Jamey,

Apologies, I was participating in a virtual conference for the past 2 days.

That is correct – we will be able to network any owner surrendered chickens received at Plano but we would not be able to take them in at the County shelter.

Please let me know if we can help with networking or anything else.

Thank you,

Misty,

For clarification, Collin County Animal Shelter would be able to help with networking owner surrendered chickens from Plano residents received at our shelter but would not be able to take them in at the county shelter, correct?

Thank you,
Jamey Cantrell

Councilman Williams,

So sorry that this has been so long coming, but I think that I have a few resources for you!

This is a great "how to" that is available on the web: <https://modernfarmer.com/2014/07/raising-backyard-chickens-dummies/>

This is a really fun podcast that covers backyard chickens (amongst other topics that might appeal to your citizens): <https://heritageacresmarket.com/backyard-bounty-podcast/>

But I think that this might be the best resource that I could find for you that could accomplish what you were wanting to accomplish: <https://www.dare2dreamfarms.com/events/beginners-backyard-chicken-class-7>. This class happens this Saturday so not useful for you, but this group would likely be willing to set something up just for your folks. $20 a head isn't a bad tradeoff, either. Those that are serious about doing this will realize that they will make that up quickly!

Otherwise, I have let some of my folks know that there might be opportunities to get some chickens from your citizens in the future and they are all in!

Let me know what you think.

Thank you!
