Each of the cities shown has a sales tax rate of 1%, except for the cities of Allen and Frisco, which have a 2% rate, but distribute half of the amount shown in the graph to 4A and 4B development corporations within their respective cities, and the City of Arlington which has a 1.75% sales tax rate with .25% dedicated to road maintenance and .50% for funding of the Dallas Cowboys Complex Development Project. ECONOMIC ANALYSIS DECEMBER 2024

The City of Plano provides economic development grants to promote economic development and to stimulate business and commercial activity in the City. Figure V tracks the number of jobs cumulatively created in Plano based on 53 active 380 economic development agreements (380 Grants). Figure VI shows the number of active grants entered into by year and the cumulative total of all active agreements. The duration of the grants is generally 5-10 years. Nearly all 380 Grants require the company to relocate, recruit, and maintain jobs for the duration of the agreement. In most cases, companies will expand and create additional jobs beyond their required job commitments. The increase or decrease in jobs is certified each year by the company. The 53 active 380 Grants, for which companies had committed to a total of 25,298 jobs, delivered 34,370 jobs. The initial certification of jobs typically occurs one to two years after the 380 Grant is approved; therefore, the number of jobs delivered will not be reported until a year or two after the 380 Grant approval.

The City of Plano occasionally uses property tax abatements to attract new industry and commercial enterprises and to encourage the retention and development of existing businesses. The City can limit the property taxes assessed on real property or tangible personal property located on real property due to the repairs or improvements to the property. Only property located within a reinvestment zone is eligible for a tax abatement agreement. Currently, there are 15 active Tax Abatement Agreements, with the last agreement approved in 2016. During this past quarter, there were no approved tax abatements.

Enacted by the Texas Legislature in 1991, 380 Agreements let cities make loans and grants of public money to businesses or developers in return for building projects within the city. Cities often pay these grants from the increase in sales or property taxes generated by the project. During this past quarter, there were no jobs created via 380 Grants.

Please note that the information presented in these figures is updated quarterly based on the date the agreement was passed by the City Council. These figures only represent active economic development agreements and do not reflect the full history of incentives offered.

Subject: 2025-29 Consolidated Plan of Housing and Community Development Needs - Goals

Background

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requires local jurisdictions to assess their affordable housing and community development needs and market conditions, and to make data driven, place-based investment decisions every five years. These decisions dictate how HUD funds will be invested into the community for the benefit of low- and moderate-income residents during the five year time period. The five-year Consolidated Plan of Housing and Community Development Needs (ConPlan) highlights plan priorities and identifies specific goals to be undertaken by the jurisdiction. The ConPlan is then carried out through annual Action Plans which state the activities to be carried out through the use of HUD funds. Progress towards ConPlan goals are reported annually through the submittal of the Consolidated Annual Performance Evaluation Report (CAPER).

The ConPlan process requires extensive public engagement and outreach to gain input on the manner in which HUD funds should be used to address community needs. City staff held two public meetings, three focus group meetings with service providers to identify community needs. Likewise, input provided by over 1,000 residents via an online survey assisted in identifying housing and community needs and opinions.

After reviewing the data provided by HUD and gathering public input, HUD requires the City to submit its five-year Consolidated Plan of Housing and Community Development Needs which informs HUD of the activities that the City plans to undertake using their funds over the upcoming five years.

The 2025-2029 Five Year ConPlan covers the period of October 1, 2025 through September 30, 2030. Based on the listed analysis and community feedback, below are the draft five-year ConPlan Goals for City Council review. Following the input gained from City Council on the proposed goals, staff will submit the attached report and goals for a 30-day public comment period to allow the community to provide additional feedback before approving the final plan.

The public comment period will officially end at the April 14th City Council meeting when the plan is brought before the City Council for final approval.

Executive Summary

ES-05 Executive Summary - 24 CFR 91.200(c), 91.220(b)

Introduction

The City of Plano (City) is a global economic leader bonded by a shared sense of community where residents experience an unparalleled quality of life. With a population of approximately 290,000, Plano is the ninth most populous city in Texas and the fourth largest city in the Dallas-Fort Worth (DFW). Plano is home to many corporate headquarters, award-winning schools, quality medical care facilities, and excellent recreational and cultural amenities.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) requires the City to submit a Consolidated Plan (ConPlan) every five years in order to receive HUD grants. The period covered under this plan is October 1, 2025 through September 30, 2030. The grants covered by this plan are allocated to the City based on population, poverty, and housing data and include the following:

- Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) – CDBG is a flexible funding source that can be used for both housing and non-housing activities, including neighborhood revitalization, workforce and economic development, community and nonprofit facilities, infrastructure, and public services in low- and moderate-income communities. The City anticipates receiving approximately $8 million in CDBG funds for the ConPlan period based on prior years funding trends.
- HOME Investment Partnerships Program – HOME is used for building, acquiring, and/or rehabilitating affordable housing for rent or homeownership. It may also be used to provide rent subsidies to low-income residents. The City estimates receiving approximately $2 million in HOME funds for the ConPlan period based on prior years funding trends.

The ConPlan outlines housing and community development needs, particularly for low- and moderate-income households, and the objectives, goals, and strategies to address those needs. The ConPlan also promotes HUD’s three main statutory objectives:

1. Decent Housing;
2. Suitable Living Environment; and
3. Expand Economic Opportunities.

The ConPlan contains policies, strategies, programs, and projects that will enhance the City’s capacity to achieve its vision of:

- Welcoming and Engaged Community;
- Safe, Vibrant Neighborhoods;

- Residential and Commercial Economic Vitality;
- Excellent, Innovative, and Accountable City Government; and
- Multi-Modal Transportation and Mobility Solutions.

The City prepares and submits an Action Plan annually, listing the activities the City will pursue with HUD funds to meet the ConPlan goals.

The ConPlan focuses on the data analysis performed for the HUD entitlement grant programs. It has been prepared in accordance with regulatory requirements and with HUD-required data. The majority of this data is from HUD prepared tabulations of the U.S. Census and American Community Survey (ACS) data years 2016-2020, known as CHAS data (Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy). Due to rapid changes in Plano, some data may seem out of date. Where possible, the HUD-provided data has been supplemented with more recent data from the 2019-2023 ACS and the City's Strategic Housing Study consultant findings.

Summary of the objectives and outcomes identified in the Plan Needs Assessment Overview

The ConPlan assesses Plano's needs relating to housing, homelessness, and community services. The following is a summary of proposed outcomes for the use of federal funds from Grant Years (GY) 2025-2029; October 1-2025 through September 30, 2030.

HUD Objective – Decent Housing

- 68 housing units to receive rehabilitation, repair, or reconstruction
- 2 new affordable housing units to be added to the housing supply through acquisition, new construction, rehabilitation, or reconstruction
- 3 first time homebuyers to be assisted with down payment and closing costs
- 8 low-income households to be provided affordable rental housing with tenant-based rental assistance

HUD Objective – Suitable Living Environment

- 350 individuals benefiting from direct homelessness prevention services
- 400 low- and moderate-income persons provided with public services with an emphasis upon children, youth, homeless, and special needs populations including elderly, persons with disabilities, persons with HIV/AIDS, illiterate adults, and domestic violence victims through an enhanced coordination of services
- 220 persons experiencing homelessness receiving overnight shelter or supportive services
- 5 emergency shelter beds added to the existing inventory for Plano's homeless population

Evaluation of past performance

Annually, the City's progress towards the ConPlan and Action Plan goals is reviewed and reported to HUD in the form of the Consolidated Annual Performance and Evaluation Report (CAPER). The CAPER evaluates and reports on the activities the City has completed.

The City is in its final year of the 2020-2024 ConPlan. The most recent 2023 CAPER reported on the accomplishments at the end of the fourth year of the ConPlan. The City exceeded the target for housing rehabilitation and the homeless shelter and services goal. While the homelessness prevention goal and the supply of units – affordable housing goal have not been met, the City anticipates making progress during the final year. Additionally, homeless shelter and public service – special needs are also funded using City general funds from the Robert W. Buffington Community Services Grant (BCSG), whose accomplishments are not reported in the CAPER. Therefore, these goals have been met or exceeded with HUD and BCSG funds. The City's Tenant Based Rental Assistance program experienced changes in nonprofit administration causing a pause in the program. Starting in the third year of the ConPlan, HOME Investment Partnerships American Rescue Plan Program (HOME-ARP) funds were utilized to continue to make progress towards this goal.

The City faced some challenges in meeting goals related to homeownership assistance and housing due to market conditions that caused an increase in home value and rental rates over the last several years. Despite increasing the maximum downpayment assistance offered through the First-Time Homebuyers program to $55,000 in 2020 and the HOME Homeownership Value to $418,000 in 2022, the market continues to be a barrier to affordable housing. In addition, affordable housing developers have found it difficult to purchase and develop land in Plano at a cost-effective rate. In the 2023 CAPER, the City anticipates being able to report four or more additions to the supply of units through developer acquisition, rehabilitation, and resale currently in progress that will be sold to low income homebuyers after completion.

The City did not make progress on its 2020-2024 ConPlan goals related to transportation and job training, despite the City's efforts to encourage nonprofit organizations to submit proposals during the annual consolidated grant cycles.

Summary of citizen participation process and consultation process

The City of Plano conducted an extensive citizen participation and consultation process from August 2024 through February 2025. During this time, the City hosted two public meetings, one public hearing, three service provider focus groups. In addition, a community online survey was made available from October 15, 2024, through February 7, 2025. The online survey was shared through City of Plano social media accounts, newsletters, postcard mailings, public notice and other approved community sites. Public meetings and focus groups were attended by approximately 100 people, and the online survey totaled 1158 respondents. Consultation was also conducted with key community stakeholders that included the Community Relations Commission, Senior Advisory Board, and other City departments. A public hearing took place on November 21, 2024, and a final public hearing will be held during the Plano City Council meeting on April 14, 2025.

Summary of public comments

The City held a public hearing on November 21, 2024 at the Community Relations Commission meeting. No comments were received at the hearing. The draft 2025-2029 ConPlan will be made available for public comments from March 9, 2025, through April 14, 2025.

Throughout the public participation process to date, the City documented the input received from public meetings and focus groups. Respondents of the online survey rated community needs related to housing, public services, public facilities, infrastructure, economic development and overall community needs based on a scale of one (low) to four (high). Additionally, open-ended responses from the survey were categorized and sorted. The most frequent themes and highly rated priority needs expressed by the public during this process were noted and helped shape the priorities established in this ConPlan, with the exceptions noted in the next section below. A full list of meetings and focus group comments is included in Appendix VI.

Summary of comments or views not accepted and the reasons for not accepting them

The City of Plano took all input received during public participation into consideration. The needs and the market assessment data analysis, frequent themes in the responses to the online survey, and highly rated priority needs influenced the priorities established in this ConPlan. There are several themes from the online community survey that were not incorporated in the plan, as discussed below.

A number of open-ended responses received via the community survey were in opposition to apartments. These comments represented 41 unique respondents of which the majority were homeowners, 55 years of age and older, and with an income not within HUD's low and moderate household income range. While all public input is considered, the data represented throughout this ConPlan demonstrates a need for affordable housing that includes rental units for Plano's low- and moderate-income households, seniors, persons with disabilities and other special need populations. Additionally, "affordable rental housing" and "people with low to moderate incomes" were rated as high priority on the online survey.

A variety of open-ended responses on the community survey were received related to general maintenance and repair of publicly owned infrastructure such as streets, sidewalks, curbs, and traffic lights. The City funds these needs through its Community Investment Program (CIP), as general maintenance of publicly owned streets. Therefore, at this time these issues were not identified as a priority need for the use of HUD funding.

Additional open-ended responses were received on the survey related to parks and recreation. Several comments related to park and recreation, such as the need for additional parks, trails, and updates to existing parks. There were also a significant number of comments specific to senior needs such as adding an additional senior recreation center on the west side of Plano and more affordable recreational programming for seniors. The City's Park & Recreation Master Plan contains a list of planned park and recreation facilities improvements and actions related to future projects. The issues raised by respondents in relation to parks and recreation were not identified as a priority need for the use of HUD funding.

There were a significant number of responses of the online survey that were specific to the need for transportation including expansion. The City of Plano is a member city of Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART) system that provides public transportation access to those that work and live in Plano. DART's system includes the DART Light Rail, bus routes, Paratransit services, and GoLink on-demand services. Additionally, the DART Silver Line is expected to open late 2025 or early 2026 and will add two additional stops in Plano. The 2019-2023 American Community Survey (ACS) indicates that public transportation is being utilized by 1% of commuters. DART has a Mobility Ambassador Program that provides free travel orientation to anyone that needs assistance with using public transit. This need represents an opportunity to raise awareness of the public transit services available in Plano, including services for persons with special needs who are unable to use DARTS's fixed-route buses or trains.

The community survey had several open-ended responses expressing a need for job training and small business grants. The Workforce Solutions of North Texas provides services to Plano job seekers that include job search assistance, education and training. Plano's Economic Development Department works closely with Collin College and Workforce Solutions of North Texas to facilitate customized job training for Plano employers, as well as access to small business grants. Overall, these needs were not identified as high priority for the use of HUD funds.

Summary

The City of Plano 2025-2029 Consolidated Plan sets forth objectives, strategies, and goals for improving the quality of life of low- and moderate-income residents of the City. It assesses the needs and provides an analysis of housing, homelessness, and other community development areas.

PR-10 Consultation – 91.100, 91.110, 91.200(b), 91.300(b), 91.215(I) and 91.315(I)

Introduction

The City of Plano Neighborhood Services Department, Community Services Division, coordinates the consultation process for the ConPlan and Action Plan. The Consolidated Plan was developed with an important focus on community feedback. The Citizenship Participation Plan (CPP) details the City's policies and procedures for citizen input and participation in the grant process. The City conducts at least one public hearing during the development process before the Consolidated Plan and Action Plan are published and at least one public hearing during the 30-day comment period to attain citizen responses and to reply to comments and questions. Starting in August 2024, the City initiated a collaborative, inclusive outreach initiative to consult with citizens, community stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations. These efforts amounted to dialogue and consultations with housing and social service providers, an online survey of 1158 Plano resident responses, two public forums with citizens to identify housing and community development needs; one public hearing; and an upcoming 30-day public comment period will be held from March 9, 2025, through April 14, 2025, with the final public hearing at City Council on April 14, 2025.

Provide a concise summary of the jurisdiction's activities to enhance coordination between public and assisted housing providers and private and governmental health, mental health and service agencies (91.215(I)).

The ConPlan draft was prepared in consultation with community stakeholders, nonprofit agencies, and social service providers that serve low- and moderate-income populations, including those in public and assisted living. Informal consultation with other city departments also took place throughout the development of the ConPlan.

The Community Services Division works in partnership the local mental health authority (Lifepath Systems), Plano Housing Authority, the TX600 Continuum of Care, local hospitals as well as other service providers through various coalitions and networking groups. The Community Services Division staff serve as active members of the Collin County Homeless Coalition (CCHC), the Collin County Social Services Association, and Texas Health Resources Collin County 1st Collaborative. The City also serves on the Independent Review Committee of the CoC and the Texas Health Community Impact Collin County Leadership Council. Active participation in these organizations enables the Community Services Division staff to collaborate with service providers to help deliver a comprehensive system of care.

To further enhance coordination between providers, ConnectPlano is a community initiative that the City expects to prioritize undertaking during the next five years of this ConPlan. ConnectPlano will bring nonprofit, housing, and social service providers under one roof, as one collaborative community to better serve residents in need. ConnectPlano will engage a variety of providers to strengthen coordination and achieve the objectives outlined in this Consolidated Plan.

Describe coordination with the Continuum of Care and efforts to address the needs of homeless persons (particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans, and unaccompanied youth) and persons at risk of homelessness

The Community Services Division staff actively collaborates with Housing Forward, the CoC lead agency. The City works closely with Housing Forward and the Collin County Homeless Coalition (CCHC) to plan and execute the annual Point in Time Homeless Count, finalize data, and utilize data for improvements to the homeless response system. In addition, the City’s Homeless Services Coordinator assesses and enters individuals into the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) and/or into the Coordinated Access System (CAS) based on the identified needs.

Describe consultation with the Continuum(s) of Care that serves the jurisdiction's area in determining how to allocate ESG funds, develop performance standards and evaluate outcomes, and develop funding, policies and procedures for the administration of HMIS

While the City does not receive an allocation of Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) funding, it coordinates with the CoC through regular attendance, membership, and participation in various workgroups within the CoC. Community Services Division staff currently participate in the Coordinated Access System (CAS), Homeless Management Information System (HMIS), Point-in-Time Census, and Street Outreach workgroups.

Describe Agencies, groups, organizations and others who participated in the process and describe the jurisdictions consultations with housing, social service agencies and other entities

The Community Services Division staff consulted with nonprofits, housing, and social service providers primarily through three focus groups, which focused on the following topics:

- ConnectPlano - to discuss the needs in the community and for a collaborative space for providers to provide services from; enhancing coordination and improving the delivery system of services.
- Homelessness
- Social Services

Describe cooperation and coordination with other public entities, including the State and any adjacent units of general local government, in the implementation of the Consolidated Plan (91.215(I))

The City of Plano coordinates with the cities of Allen, Frisco, and McKinney through ongoing communication and quarterly meetings of staff overseeing HUD funding. These are opportunities for staff to share best practices and to align efforts across the cities. In order to reduce duplication of efforts, the City of Plano coordinated with these cities to organize the Homelessness and Social Service focus groups for each city's respective ConPlan. This cooperative effort resulted in over 50 attendees participating and commenting on the needs of the local community.

PR-15 Citizen Participation – 91.105, 91.115, 91.200(c) and 91.300(c)

Summary of citizen participation process/Efforts made to broaden citizen participation Summarize citizen participation process and how it impacted goal-setting

The City of Plano Neighborhood Services Department, Community Services Division, coordinates the consultation process for the ConPlan. The City encourage Plano citizens to provide input in the ConPlan process. Through its adopted Citizen Participation Plan (Appendix II), the City sets forth policies and procedures for citizens and groups to provide the City with information on housing and community development needs as part of the preparations of the ConPlan.

The City of Plano conducted an extensive citizen participation and consultation process from August 14, 2024, through February 12, 2025. During this time, the City hosted two public meetings, one public hearing, and three service provider focus groups. In addition, a community online survey was made available to the public from October 15, 2024, through February 7, 2025. The online survey was shared to City of Plano social media accounts, newsletters, postcard mailings, public notice and other approved community sites. Public meetings and focus groups were attended by approximately 100 people, and the surveys totaled 1158 respondents. A 30-day comment period will be held from March 9, 2025, through April 14, 2025, and a final public hearing will be held during the Plano City Council meeting on April 14, 2025.

Consultation was also conducted with key community stakeholders that included the Community Relations Commission, Senior Advisory Committee, and other City departments.

Comments collected from the public meetings, focus groups, and open-ended responses from the community survey were categorized by theme and ideas that were frequently expressed. All comments were considered in preparation of the ConPlan, high priority needs expressed and common themes in the survey comments were vital to identifying the five-year goals and priorities. Public participation outreach materials and detailed survey results can be found in Appendix III and IV, respectively.

Needs Assessment

NA-05 Overview

Needs Assessment Overview

The Needs Assessment is a study of the housing needs and non-housing needs of the City of Plano. Housing and homeless needs are determined by: 1) affordability; 2) age and condition of units; and 3) occupancy or overcrowding. Non-housing needs are determined by the need for social services.

The City of Plano used the HUD 2016-2020 Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data as prepopulated in Table 6 through Table 21, the American Community Survey (ACS) 2019-2023 Five Year Estimates and 2019-2023 ACS 1-Year Estimates. In May 2023, the City engaged a consultant to assist the City in preparing a Strategic Housing Plan and Policy Recommendations. The Strategic Housing Plan includes the below four stages:

- Review of City data, including stakeholder meetings and focus groups (completed)
- Regional and local Housing Needs Assessment (completed)
- Regional Job Analysis (completed)
- Gap Analysis of Housing Needs and Initiatives/Tools (completed)

The preliminary findings of the housing study yielded a needs and gaps analysis which quantifies current and future housing supply and demand which are cited throughout the Needs Assessment section.

The tables in this section have been prepopulated with HUD data sets, based on the 2016-2020 ACS Five Year Estimates, and the 2000 U.S. Census. Four tables were updated with alternate data sources as follows: 1) Table 5 - Housing Needs Assessment Demographics was updated to reflect current 2019-2023 ACS data; 2) Table 22- Public Housing by Program Type was updated to reflect current data provided by Plano Housing Authority; and 3) Table 27 – Homeless Needs Assessment & the optional table “Nature and Extent of Homelessness” in the NA-45 Homeless Needs Assessment were updated using Plano’s 2024 Point-in-Time (PIT) Census and 2024 Collin County Shelter data. This information is the most current data available to assess our City’s housing and non-housing needs.

NA-10 Housing Needs Assessment - 24 CFR 91.205

Summary of Housing Needs

In the span of three years (from 2020 to 2023), Plano's demographics have changed as follows: 1) population (-1%); 2) number of households (3%); and 3) median income (13%). During this same period, the median rent increased from $1,447 to $1,792 (24% increase). Meanwhile, the housing market in Plano has seen a steady increase from 2020 to 2024. According to the Texas Real Estate Research Center, the median sales prices increased by 44%, from $360,000, to $520,000. This surge in housing prices has increased the share of income spent on housing costs for Plano households across all income levels, with low- and moderate-income households facing the most severe burdens.

The most significant housing problem for the City of Plano residents is cost burden. When a household spends more than 30 percent of their household income on housing costs, this is considered cost burdened. Housing costs include rent, mortgage payments, taxes, insurance, and utilities. According to the 2019-2023 ACS, approximately 29% of Plano occupied housing units across all incomes are cost burdened. Of which, almost 41% are renter-occupied housing units that are cost burdened. In owner-occupied housing, 26% of owners with a mortgage and 11% of those without a mortgage are cost burdened.

As shown on Table 6, a total of 28% of all Plano households are low-to-moderate income (LMI) with household income between 0% to 80% of the HUD Area Median Family Income (HAMFI). The breakdown by income is as follows: 7% of all households have an extremely low income between 0-30% HAMFI; approximately 7% of all households have a very low income between 30-50%; and 14% of all households have low to moderate incomes between 50-80% HAMFI. As an example, a household of four with an income of $33,100 or less would be considered extremely low income (0-30% AMI); $55,120 or less would be very low income (30-50% AMI); and earning $88,250 would be low to moderate income (50%-80% AMI). According to the 2016-2020 CHAS data of the total households represented in Table 6, renters represent a total of 44,155 households and owners represent 63,165 households. Of the renter households, approximately 39% have incomes between 0-80% HAMFI and 20% are extremely low- and very low-income households (0-50%). While 20% of owner households have income between 0-80% HAMFI and 9.5% are extremely low and very low-income households (0-50% HAMFI).

Plano's low- and moderate-income households (especially the extremely low to very low income), seniors (age 65 years and over), persons with a disability, single female-headed households, and persons fleeing domestic violence are vulnerable to homelessness due to the high costs of housing and limited or fixed financial resources.

Generally, overcrowding and substandard housing is not a common problem in Plano. However, based on Table 7, renter-occupied households are more likely to experience substandard housing and severe overcrowding (1,665 households) than owner-occupied households (505). Additionally, based on the 2019-2023 ACS, 71% of Plano’s housing stock is over 25 years old. As housing ages, it is crucial timely repairs and maintenance are completed to avoid further deterioration and to preserve safe and affordable housing. Low- and moderate-income households located in areas of aging housing stock need assistance with major home repairs, maintenance, and may even need accessibility modifications as financial resources can be strained due to cost burden and limited financial resources.

Comments:

Describe the number and type of single person households in need of housing assistance.

The median household income across all households in Plano is $108,649. The median household income for a single person household is $59,812 (2019-2023 ACS). This represents a difference of almost $50,000 between the median incomes. Per the HUD Income Limits, a single person with a median income would be considered low-income. At the median income, single-person households can afford a maximum of $1,495 in housing cost without being cost burdened. The median contract rent in Plano is $1,792 (2019-2023 ACS). At this median rent, a single person with a median income would be cost burdened. In Plano, there are 110,522 occupied housing units, of which 25% are occupied by single-person households. Among these types of households, there is a higher percentage of renter-occupied units in comparison to owner-occupied units. Approximately 64% of the single person households are renters and 36% are owner-occupied units (2019-2023 ACS).

Approximately 39% of the population age 65 years or older live alone (2019-2023 ACS). As stated in the 2019-2023 ACS, approximately 23% of seniors with a monthly mortgage and 61% paying rent are cost burdened. During public outreach and in the online survey, seniors expressed a concern with housing affordability as it is difficult to size-down due to high housing costs.

Therefore, based on the 2019-2023 ACS, the single-person households that are more likely to need housing assistance are those that are renting and/or 65 years of age or older. Housing assistance such as rental assistance, homebuying assistance, and overall affordable housing would greatly benefit single-person households.

Estimate the number and type of families in need of housing assistance who are disabled or victims of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault and stalking.

Approximately 8% of Plano residents across all ages report having some form of disability (2019-2023 ACS). The population age 16 or older that report having a form of disability is 9% (or 21,438 individuals). The median earnings for the population age 16 or older is $60,668. The median earnings for this population with a disability is $45,060, compared to $61,634 without a disability (2019-2023 ACS). This same report indicates approximately 11% of the population age 16 and over is below the 150% poverty level. While 16% of the population age 16 and over with a disability is below the 150% poverty level. The federal poverty levels do not consider the surrounding households, while HUD's income limits are based on area median income for the area. Therefore, living below the 150% poverty level in our area would be considered extremely low income to very low income (0% - 50% AMI). As such, it can be estimated that approximately 3,430 individuals ages 16 or older may need housing assistance.

When a person decides to flee domestic violence, they often find themselves with nowhere to go and with limited financial resources. Based on the 2024 Dallas & Collin Counties PIT Census, approximately 9% of unsheltered adults were fleeing domestic violence. As domestic violence numbers are often underreported, approximately 40 persons fleeing domestic violence in Plano may need housing assistance. This is based on the reporting from local nonprofit organizations serving survivors of domestic violence and data from the 2024 Dallas & Collin Counties PIT Census.

What are the most common housing problems?

HUD provided data for three major housing problems which are substandard housing, crowding, and cost burden. The most prevalent housing problem is cost burden. Approximately 29% of Plano residents across all incomes are cost burdened (2019-2023 ACS). As shown on table 9, a total of 66% low- and moderate-income households are cost burdened. This includes 12,809 renters (43%) and 6,819 owner (23%) of the total low- and moderate-income households (Table 6 and Table 9).

Plano households that spend over 50% of their household income on housing costs are considered severely cost burdened. According to Table 10, there are approximately 7,546 (25%) severely cost burdened low- and moderate-income households living in Plano. This table indicates 34% of extremely low- and low-income households (0-50% AMI) are severely cost burdened, in contrast to 16% of moderate-income households (>50-80% AMI).

Although not provided by HUD, physical condition problems due to the age of Plano's housing stock must also be take into consideration. As indicated in in the 2019-2023 ACS data, 71% of the City's total occupied housing units were built prior to 2000. Of these, approximately 19% were built before 1980. Housing units built prior to 1978 are not only prone to major repair needs as they age, but also likely to contain some lead-based paint. For those households already cost-burdened and/or on a fixed income, it may mean prioritizing other household needs which could further deteriorate the housing conditions. In online survey, a significant number of open-ended responses mentioned the need for home repair assistance, in particular for senior residents.

Are any populations/household types more affected than others by these problems?

As previously stated, low- and moderate-income households in Plano have a higher percentage of households experiencing cost burden. Populations that are more likely to be cost burden include low- and moderate-income renters, elderly households, and families. While cost burden affects both renters and owners, renters are disproportionately affected. There are approximately 1,7405 renter households that are low and moderate income and 74% of these households are cost burdened. While 54% of owners (12,555) are cost burdened (Table 9). Low and moderate renter-occupied households have a higher need of housing assistance by 20 percentage points.

Plano households that are severely cost burden spend over half of their household income on housing costs, which leaves them with less financial resources for other essential needs. Renters and owners that earn between 0-80% AMI experience severe cost burden equally. Twenty-five percent (25%) of renters, and 25% of the owners are severely cost burdened (Table 10). However, the table also indicates that in the extreme low- and very low-income households (0-50% AMI), there are 2,717 owners that are severely cost burdened in comparison with 2,450 of renters. Forty-five percent (45%) of owners and 27% of renters with a 0-50% AMI are severely cost burdened.

Elderly households are defined by the HUD as a household whose head, spouse, or sole member is a person who is at least 62 years of age. As shown on Table 6, 29% of households with at least one person age 62-74 years of age earn between 0-80% AMI. There is a larger percentage of households with one person age 74 or over (49%) that are low and moderate income households. This represents the highest percentage of low- and moderate-income household types. As mentioned previously, 23% of owners and 61% of renter senior households (65 years and older) are cost burdened (2019-2023 ACS). Therefore, based on this data and input from the online survey, the Plano aging population needs housing assistance particularly as their economic resources become limited.

According to HUD, small family households are defined as a family with two to four members and large family households are defined as five or more members. Table 6 indicates there are a total of 10,120 (19%) low to moderate small family households. Likewise, 2,805 (30%) of large family are low to moderate income. As previously mentioned, a household living below the 150% poverty level in our area would be considered extremely low income to very low income (0% - 50% AMI). Over 5% of all families in Plano have income below the poverty level. While 9% of large families live below the poverty level. There is a disproportionate need in families with a single female-headed households, as 17% of all female-headed households have income below the poverty level. Over 24% of single female-headed households with up to four members live below the poverty level.

Approximately 71% of the housing stock was built prior to 2000 and 19% of housing was built before 1980. As shown in Appendix I, Plano's low- and moderate-income areas are located throughout the city. Housing located in these areas will need major repairs in the next five years of this ConPlan. Proper maintenance and timely repairs are crucial to maintain home safety, functionality, and value. Plano residents already be cost burdened may find it difficult to budget for maintenance, repairs, or modifications due to their limited financial resources.

Describe the characteristics and needs of Low-income individuals and families with children (especially extremely low-income) who are currently housed but are at imminent risk of either residing in shelters or becoming unsheltered 91.205(c)/91.305(c)). Also discuss the needs of formerly homeless families and individuals who are receiving rapid re-housing assistance and are nearing the termination of that assistance

The most vulnerable Plano residents include extremely low- and very low-income households, families, persons with a disability, and the elderly. The 2019-2023 ACS estimates that approximately 6% of cost burdened renters earn less than $20,000 per year, and an additional 17% earn between $20,000 and $49,999 per year. Therefore, 23% of renters earn up to $49,999 per year. According to Tables 9 and 10, extremely low and very low-income households are highly likely to be cost burdened (76%) and severely cost burdened (34%).

Single female-headed households, persons with disabilities, and seniors are likely to be susceptible to becoming unhoused due to poverty and cost burden. Approximately, 24% of families of single female households with children under 18 years of age present are below poverty level in contrast to 5% of all families. Approximately 16% of persons with a disability age 16 years of age and over are below the 150% of the poverty level compared to 10% of those with no disability. Sixty-one percent (61%) of senior renters (age 65 years and over) and 23% of senior owners are cost burdened. These special needs populations are highly unlikely to be able to withstand an unexpected financial emergency.

Domestic violence is often underreported due to fear, lack of resources, and support. The Texas Health and Human Services reported 59% of hotline calls seeking shelter were denied due to capacity in 2023 an increase from 50% being denied for the same reason in 2022 (Texas Department of Health and Human Services. Texas Family Violence Program Statewide Report. November 2024). While there is not a specific estimate for our area, approximately 40 persons fleeing domestic violence in Plano may need housing assistance.

Plano residents at risk of an eviction are assisted through the City's Homelessness Prevention Program. As of June 2023, the City also utilized additional funding made available through the HOME Investment Partnership American Rescue Plan (HOME-ARP). The City's Homelessness Prevention Program and HOME-ARP Homelessness Prevention programs were administered by two local nonprofit service providers. In the most recent completed year, 549 persons were able to maintain housing through these housing programs. Of those served, 64% were female-headed households and 54% were extremely low income. This short-term rental assistance assists households that come across an unexpected crisis that could lead to homelessness. The most successful households are those willing to participate in case management and can continue to afford their rent once their situation improves. For those that need more long-term assistance, short-term assistance would only temporarily delay homelessness. Rapid rehousing programs with long-term assistance and intense wraparound services would best serve such groups.

Over the last four years, the City's State of Texas Homeless Housing and Services Program (HHSP) funded Rapid Rehousing funded 112 persons formerly homeless with housing and comprehensive services for up to 12 months. In June 2023, the city began operating year of the Tenant-Based Rental Assistance Program (TBRA) through the use of HOME-ARP funding. As of 2024, 10 households received housing assistance and supportive services, of which 70% were female-headed households. Participants in these programs are successful when they actively participate in case management and connect to resources in a timely manner. As participants exit the program, affordable housing can continue to be a need due to high housing costs. Participation in voluntary case management and a supportive system can help with maintain housing. Some program participants will continue to have a higher level of need and would best be served by a housing choice voucher or permanent supportive housing.

If a jurisdiction provides estimates of the at-risk population(s), it should also include a description of the operational definition of the at-risk group and the methodology used to generate the estimates:

HUD provided data found on Tables 5 through 10, along with the 2019-2023 ACS Report informed the City's estimates as provided in the question above. The data reflects cost burden as a significant housing problem with vulnerable populations most at risk for homelessness. At-risk groups are defined in detail above such as extremely low- and low-income households, families (single female-headed households), persons with a disability, seniors (age 65 years and over), and those formerly homeless.

Specify particular housing characteristics that have been linked with instability and an increased risk of homelessness

Extremely low- and low-income households are prone to financial uncertainty and increased risk of homelessness. A combination of circumstances could lead to homelessness as there is not one single factor. Increased risk of becoming unhoused can be associated with living paycheck to paycheck, living in overcrowded environments, living in hotels and motels, fleeing domestic violence; or exiting an institution or system of care. Other areas that could affect stability are prolonged periods of unemployment, health needs (physical and mental), lack of resources and support, physical deterioration of housing, and unplanned crisis situations.

Insufficient affordable housing for Plano's extremely low- and low-income households and any of the above factors could destabilize a household and increase the risk of homelessness.

Discussion

As discussed above, Plano's housing assessment indicates a need for the ConPlan goals and priorities to take aim at problems associated to cost burden being experienced by Plano residents with a specific focus on vulnerable populations and programs to address physical conditions of single-family owner-occupied homes.

NA-15 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Problems – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole.

Introduction

When any racial or ethnic group at a given income level experience housing problems at a greater rate (10 percentage points or more) than the income level as a whole, a disproportionately greater need exists for that racial or ethnic group.

The Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) categorizes a household as having a housing problem if the household has any of the following: lack of complete kitchen facilities, lack of complete plumbing facilities, overcrowded (more than one person per room), and cost burden is greater than 30% (spending over 30% of household income on housing costs). Cost burden is not only one of the four housing problems possible, but also the most common housing problem that Plano households experience (NA-10: Housing Needs Assessment).

According to the 2019-2023 ACS, the poverty rate in Plano is approximately 7% overall, however some racial and ethnic groups experience higher poverty rates. The highest poverty rate is found in the Black/African American racial group with a poverty rate of 12.4% which is almost double the overall poverty rate. The poverty rate has increased by 3% from the poverty rate reported in the previously published 2020-2024 Consolidated Plan. Following closely behind are households with some other race alone (12.2%) and 10.4% of Hispanic or Latino origin (of any race) are below the poverty level. Meanwhile, racial and ethnic groups below the overall poverty rate are Whites (6.4%), American Indians/Alaska Natives (4%), Asian (6.10%), White alone, not Hispanic or Latino (5.40%), two or more races (6.90%); and Native Hawaiian and Other Pacific Islander alone (0%).

While there are some racial and ethnic groups with higher poverty rates than the overall poverty rate, race itself is not a determinant of disproportionality greater need when it comes to housing problems. According to the tables in NA-10 and Tables 13 through 16, the income level seems to be primary factor affecting the rate of housing problems.

Discussion

Tables 13 through Table 16 provide data related to Plano households experiencing one or more housing problems by income, race, and ethnicity.

There are approximately 40,000 Plano households (or 37% of all households) at or below the 100% HUD Area Median Family Income (HAMFI). Of that total, 23,424 households (59%) have one or more of the four housing problems. Of these households, 5,605 (24%) have an extremely low income (0-30% HAMFI); 6,030 (26%) are very low-income households (earning between 30%-50% HAMFI per year); and 8,785 (37%) are low to moderate income households (earning between 50%-80% HAMFI). A total of 3,004 (13%) households with one or more of the four housing problems earn between 80%-100% HAMFI per year. Extremely low and very low-income households represent almost 50% of households with one or more of the four housing problems. American Indian/Alaskan Native and Pacific Islanders represent a small fraction of the Plano households with housing problems that earn up to 100% HAMFI (90 households or 0.3%).

In the 0-30% HAMFI income category (Table 13), 74% of total households have a housing problem compared to Whites at 72%; Black/African Americans at 70%; Asians at 67%; American Indians/Alaska Natives at 100%; Pacific Islanders at 100%; and Hispanics at 88%. A disproportionate greater need exists for American Indians/Alaska Natives, Pacific Islanders, and Hispanics at this income level compared to the need of the category as whole. Other race and ethnic populations have differences that are less than 10 percentage points compared to all households.

In the 30-50% HAMFI income category (Table 14), 81% of total households have a housing problem compared to Whites at 85%; Black/African Americans at 90%; Asians at 65%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 76%; Pacific Islander at 0%; and Hispanics at 85%. No disproportionate need exists for any race or ethnicity in this income segment.

In the 50-80% HAMFI income category (Table 15), 59% of total households have a housing problem compared to Whites at 58%; Black/African Americans at 67%; Asians at 59%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 65%; Pacific Islanders at 100%; and Hispanics at 54%. A disproportionate greater need exists for Pacific Islanders at this income level compared to the need of the category. Other race and ethnic populations have differences that are less than 10 percentage points compared to all households.

In the 80-100% HAMFI income category (Table 16), 30% of the total households have a housing problem compared to Whites at 32%; Black/African Americans at 31%; Asians at 39%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 0%; Pacific Islanders at 0%; and Hispanics at 16%. No disproportionate need exists for any race or ethnicity in this income segment.

As stated above, three populations were identified as being disproportionately affected by housing problems in two of the income categories. Extremely low income American Indian/Alaska Native and Pacific Islander households have a 26% greater rate of housing problems compared to the income category as a whole. While extremely low-income Hispanics have 14% greater rate of housing problems in comparison to the income category as a whole. Low to moderate income Pacific Islander households have a 41% greater rate of housing problems compared to the income category as a whole. No disproportionate need was identified in very low income and households that earn between 80% to 100% HAMFI.

DRAFT

NA-20 Disproportionately Greater Need: Severe Housing Problems – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole.

Introduction

When any racial or ethnic group at a given income level experience housing problems at a greater rate (10 percentage points or more) than the income level as a whole, a disproportionately greater need exists for that racial or ethnic group.

Plano households with severe housing problems have at least one of the following problems: lack of complete kitchen facilities; lack of complete plumbing facilities; overcrowded (more than 1.5 person per room); and cost burden is greater than 50% (spending over 50% of household income on housing costs).

As previously stated in NA-10, race alone does not determine disproportionate need, as income levels seems to be the primary factor in the incidence of disproportionality affecting households with severe housing problems. Extremely low- and low-income households across all racial and ethnic populations are vulnerable to financial insecurity and risk homelessness when they spend over 50% of their income on housing costs.

Discussion

There are approximately 40,000 Plano households (or 37% of all households) at or below the 100% HUD Area Median Family Income (HAMFI). Of that total, 12,214 households (31%) have one or more of the four severe housing problems. Of these households, 5,150 (42%) have an extremely low income (0-30% HAMFI); 3,775 (31%) are low-income households (earning between 30%-50% HAMFI per year); and 2,645 (22%) are low to moderate income households (earning between 50%-80% HAMFI). A total of 644 (5%) households with one or more of the four severe housing problems earn between 80%-100% HAMFI per year. Extremely low and very low-income households represent 73% of households with one or more of the four severe housing problems. Pacific Islanders represent a small fraction of the Plano households that earn up to 100% HAMFI (70 households or 0.1%) and represents 0% of households experiencing severe housing problems. All race and ethnic populations (except for American Indians/Alaska Natives and Pacific Islanders) experience over 60% of severe housing problems in extremely low and very low-income households (Whites: 77%; Black/African Americans: 63%; Asians (69%); and Hispanics (77%).

In the 0-30% HAMFI income group (Table 17), 68% of total households have a severe housing problem compared to Whites at 65%; Black/African Americans at 64%; Asians at 63%; American Indians/Alaska Natives at 0%; Pacific Islanders at 0%; and Hispanics at 84%. A disproportionate greater need exists for Hispanics at this income level compared to the need of the category. All other race and ethnic populations had lower rates of severe housing problems compared to the need of the category.

In the 30-50% HAMFI income category (Table 18), 51% of total households have a severe housing problem compared to Whites at 50%; Black/African Americans at 64%; Asians at 47%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 0%; Pacific Islander at 0%; and Hispanics at 52%. A disproportionate greater need exists for Black/African Americans at this income level compared to the need of the category. Other race and ethnic populations have differences less than 10 percentage points compared to all households.

In the 50-80% HAMFI income category (Table 19), 18% of total households have a severe housing problem compared to Whites at 13%; Black/African Americans at 24%; Asians at 25%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 17%; Pacific Islanders at 0%; and Hispanics at 22%. No disproportionate need exists in any race or ethnic population in this income segment.

In the 80-100% HAMFI income category (Table 20), 6% of the total households have a severe housing problem compared to Whites at 4%; Black/African Americans at 11%; Asians at 20%; American Indian/Alaska Natives at 0%; Pacific Islanders at 0%; and Hispanics at 1%. A disproportionate greater need exists for Asians at this income level compared to the need of the category. Other race and ethnic populations have differences that are less than 10 percentage points compared to all households.

As stated above, three populations were identified as being disproportionately affected by severe housing problems in three of the income categories. Extremely low-income Hispanic households have a 16% greater rate of severe housing problems compared to the income category as a whole. Very low-income Black/African American households have a 13% greater rate of severe housing problems compared to the income category as a whole. Asians earning between 80% and 100% HAMFI have a 13% greater rate of severe housing problems compared to the income category as a whole. No disproportionate need was identified in low to moderate income households (50%-80% HAMFI).

NA-25 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Cost Burdens – 91.205 (b)(2)

Assess the need of any racial or ethnic group that has disproportionately greater need in comparison to the needs of that category of need as a whole.

Introduction

When a household spends more than 30 percent of their household income on housing costs, this is considered as cost burden. Severe cost burden exists when 50 percent or more of the household income is spent on housing costs. Affordable housing is described as housing in which a household is paying no more than 30 percent of their income for housing costs.

As defined by HUD, a disproportionately greater need exists when the members of a racial or ethnic group at a given income level experience housing problems at a greater rate (10 percentage points or more) than the income level as a whole.

Housing Cost Burden	<=30%	30-50%	>50%	No / negative income (not computed)

Table 21 – Greater Need: Housing Cost Burdens AMI

Data Source: 2016-2020 CHAS

Discussion:

According to Table 21, approximately three-fourths of all Plano households (74%) spend less than 30% of their income on housing costs. Black/African American households are disproportionately underrepresented by 11 percentage points (63%).

Fourteen percent of all households are spending between 30% and 50% of their income on housing costs. No race or ethnic population is disproportionately affected in this category.

Eleven percent of all households are severely cost burdened, spending more than 50% of their income on housing costs. No race or ethnic population is disproportionately affected in this category.

When the number of households that are spending 30% to 50% (cost burdened) and over 50% (severely cost burdened) of their income on housing costs are combined, over 34% of Black/African American households and 34% of Hispanics are spending from 30% to over 50% of their income on housing costs. In comparison, the overall percentage of households that spend from 30% to over 50% of their income on housing costs is 24%.

NA-30 Disproportionately Greater Need: Discussion –

Are there any Income categories in which a racial or ethnic group has disproportionately greater need than the needs of

In the NA-15 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Problems section, American Indians/Alaska Natives, Pacific Islanders, and Hispanics were identified as disproportionately in greater need in the 0-30% income category. Pacific Islanders were also identified as disproportionately affected in the 50%-80% income category. American Indians/Alaskan Natives and Pacific Islanders represent a small fraction (90 households or 0.3%) of the Plano households with housing problems that earn up to 100% HUD Area Median Family Income (HAMFI). No disproportionate need was identified in the 30-50% and 80-100% income categories for any of the races or ethnic populations.

In the NA-20 Disproportionately Greater Need: Severe Housing Problems section, Hispanics were identified as having a disproportionately greater need with a difference of 16 percentage points compared to the 0-30% income category as a whole. Black/African Americans were identified as having a disproportionately greater need with a difference of 13 percentage points compared to the 30-50% income category as a whole. Asians were identified as having a disproportionate greater need with a difference of 13 percentage points compared to the 80-100% income category as a whole. No disproportionate need was identified in the 50-80% income category for any of the races or ethnic populations.

In the NA-25 Disproportionately Greater Need: Housing Cost Burdens section, Black/African Americans are disproportionately underrepresented in the households spending less than 30% of income on housing costs category by 11 percentage points. No disproportionate need was identified in the households spending 30-50% and over 50% as separate categories. However, when the number of households that are cost burdened and severely cost burden are combined, a disproportionate greater need for Black/African Americans and Hispanics is identified. Of the jurisdiction as a whole, 24% are spending between 30% to over 50% of their income on housing costs, compared to Black/African Americans and Hispanics both each at 34% (difference of 10 percentage points) that are cost burdened to severely cost burdened.

If they have needs not identified above, what are those needs?

Even though a race or ethnic group may not be disproportionately affected by housing problems, they could still be experiencing a greater rate of housing problems or cost burden compared to the income level as a whole. Cost burden, income levels, and housing tenure indicate there is a need for affordable housing across all racial and ethnic populations.

Table 9 and Table 10 indicate there are 19,628 extremely low to moderate income households cost burdened and 7,546 are severely cost burdened. Over 27,000 affordable housing units are needed in Plano for households that earn between 0-80% AMI. Renters are also more likely to be severely cost burdened (74%) in comparison to homeowners (54%). That means renters earning between 0-80% AMI need over 17,200 affordable housing units (Table 9 and Table 10). Furthermore, the 2019-2023 ACS indicates that 6% of renters are making less than $20,000 per year with an additional 17% making between $20,000 to $49,999. At an income of $49,999, the maximum housing costs that a household could afford without being cost burdened would be $1,249. Meanwhile, the gross rent median in Plano is $1,792 (2019-2023 ACS).

As previously discussed, renters are likely to experience cost burden (74%) when compared to homeowners (54%). Based on the 2019-2023 ACS, almost 55% of occupied housing units are Non-Hispanic Whites (63% owner-occupied and 44% renter-occupied). Asian households comprise 20% of the occupied housing units, of which 20% are owner-occupied and 20% are renter-occupied. However, among Black/African Americans and Hispanics there is a higher rate of renters and are not represented equally across occupied housing units. Black/African Americans comprise almost 10% of the occupied housing units, of which 5% are owner-occupied housing units and 16% are renter-occupied. Meanwhile, Hispanics comprise 13% of the occupied housing units, with 10% owner-occupied housing units, and approximately 17% renter-occupied housing units. Disproportionately affected populations that rent could benefit from affordable rental housing, increase income through upskilling, and homebuying assistance.

As stated in the summary of NA-10 Housing Needs Assessment, 26% of homeowners with a mortgage are cost burdened. Approximately 9% of homeowners that earn up to $49,999 are spending 30% or more of their income on housing costs. Additionally, the median amount of real estate taxes is over $7,000 and 96% of owners are paying $1,500 or more on real estate taxes. Cost burdened homeowners may need assistance with timely home repairs to avoid further housing deterioration that could lead to unsafe living conditions and neighborhood blight.

An expanded investment in Plano's affordable housing such as rental assistance, home repair assistance, homebuying assistance and education would help meet the needs of the disproportionately in greater need as well as the overall population challenged with housing problems. In combination with social services such as case management/advocacy, financial coaching (budgeting/planning), career development (training/upskilling), and access to timely health services would further address other outlying needs.

Are any of those racial or ethnic groups located in specific areas or neighborhoods in your community?

In the City of Plano, the Non-Hispanic White population reside throughout Plano, with a notable lower concentration in neighborhoods along the eastern side of US-75. The Black/African American population primarily resides in higher concentrations in neighborhoods to the immediate east and west/northwest of US-75, and southeast Plano. The Hispanic population reside mainly in East Plano. The Asian and Pacific Islander population primarily concentrate on the north and west areas of the city. American Indian/Alaska Natives residents mainly reside west of US-75. Many of the local social service providers as well as access to public transportation (DART Rail Line) are in East Plano.

Introduction

The Plano Housing Authority (PHA) is the local public housing agency. PHA currently has 920 Housing Choice Vouchers (HCV), 40 Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing (VASH), 14 Mainstream Vouchers, and 23 Project Based Vouchers in use as of February 2025. PHA vouchers can be used within a 25-mile radius of PHA’s office and are not limited to Plano city limits.

City staff works collaboratively with PHA by sending referrals to voucher programs.

Section 504 Needs Assessment: Describe the needs of public housing tenants and applicants on the waiting list for accessible units:

There are currently 184 families with a disability on the Public Housing waiting list, which represents 12% of all households waiting for assistance. The needs of these households' match needs of other low-income households with a disabled member, including increased access to affordable, stable housing and accessible units.

Most immediate needs of residents of Public Housing and Housing Choice voucher holders

The main needs of these households are similar to the needs of the community at-large that is extremely and low income which include stable, decent, and affordable housing, employment/job training, childcare, and transportation assistance.

How do these needs compare to the housing needs of the population at large

As described above, the needs are similar to the extremely low and low-income households across the City. The extremely low and low-income households have a need for affordable housing, childcare, employment, job training, and transportation.

Discussion

Public housing tenants and applicants, as well as extremely low and low-income households in Plano have an increased need for affordable housing, childcare, stable employment, job training opportunities, as well as access to reliable transportation.

NA-40 Homeless Needs Assessment – 91.205(c)

Introduction

The Annual Homeless Census (also known as Point-in-Time or PIT count) is led by Housing Forward, the Continuum of Care (Coc) Lead Agency for Dallas and Collin Counties (TX-600 CoC). It is conducted each year on one day in January across the country and our region. The annual PIT count provides our community with information on the current state of homelessness that then informs local decision-making.

According to CoC data from the annual Point-in-Time (PIT) count conducted on January 25, 2024, the number of homeless persons in Plano has decreased by 29% since the prior year. In 2024, there were 183 persons identified as homeless in Plano in comparison with 261 homeless in 2023. Prior to 2024, there had been a steady increase in homeless with 224 homeless counted in 2022; 216 in 2021; and 253 in 2020. In Dallas and Collin Counties, there was a decrease of 19% in overall homelessness since 2021. While national rates increased, our region was among a small group of communities that reduced homelessness. The decrease in homelessness numbers is due to the regions collaborative focus on connecting persons and families experiencing homelessness to housing and supportive services using evidence-based strategies.

The decrease in the overall homeless population in our region is promising, however there are still challenges to address. In Plano, shelter options are limited to youth and persons fleeing domestic violence. Other than the Plano Overnight Warming Shelter (POWS), which opens for overnight shelter during extreme cold weather events, there is no emergency shelter for the general population. Over 50% of the 183 homeless persons counted in Plano identified as male. Additionally, across the region there is a racial disparity between the Black/African American population and the percentage of homelessness being experienced by this population. According to the 2024 State of Homelessness in Dallas and Collin Counties, 19% of Black/African American households make up the general population, however nearly 57% of the homeless population is Black/African American. In Plano, based on the 2024 PIT Count results, approximately 40% of the homeless population is Black/African American.

While the City is encouraged with the decrease in homelessness seen in the 2024 PIT count, the City remains committed to continuing to support homeless services and shelters over the next five years to further decrease the homeless population.

If data is not available for the categories "number of persons becoming and exiting homelessness each year," and "number of days that persons experience homelessness," describe these categories for each homeless population type (including chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth):

The number of persons experiencing homelessness in a given night and the estimated number experiencing homelessness each year in the above table is based on reported numbers for 2024 PIT Census and Collin County Shelter information. The estimated percentage of months a person experiences homelessness across all household types in Plano is as follows:

- 28% (3 months or less);
- 22% (3 -6 months);
- 27% (12-24 months);
- 17% (36-60 months);
- 3% (72-96 months); and
- 3% (120 months and over)

Youth experience homelessness as follows: 74% (3 months or less); 13% (3 to 6 months); 9% (12 months); and 4% (18 months). Though the 2025 PIT Census data analysis for the TX600 CoC is not yet finalized, the City of Plano received some data from supplemental surveys conducted outside of the count. The estimated percentage was calculated based on supplemental surveys completed during the most recent 2025 PIT Count. The number of homeless entering and exiting is challenging to estimate due to the dynamic nature of homelessness. However, based on the Dallas and Collin County 2024 State of the Homelessness in Dallas and Collin Counties there was a decrease across all populations in homelessness. In our region, youth homelessness was decreased by 22%, family homelessness by 14.9% and veteran homelessness by 21.37% since 2023.

Shelter options in Plano are limited to those that serve youth and persons fleeing domestic violence, and during freezing weather the POWS opens overnight. Therefore, those that are unable to obtain shelter often seek shelter in surrounding cities that have more shelters and transitional living options. The Samaritan Inn (McKinney) receives City of Plano grant funding to provide transitional shelter to families and individuals who became homeless while living in Plano. In 2023, the Samaritan Inn served 88 persons from Plano (23 funded through City funding).

Estimate the number and type of families in need of housing assistance for families with children and the families of veterans.

The top three reasons causing homelessness in Plano from the 2024 PIT Census data are the following: 1) inability to pay rent; 2) lack of affordable housing; and 3) unemployment. For Plano families and vulnerable population this could mean an increased risk of homelessness at any point should there be a rent increase, loss of job, or if they were to become too cost burdened to be able to keep up with their financial responsibilities.

According to the 2019-2023 ACS, approximately 7% of the families with related children (under 18 years old) in Plano are living below the poverty level. This is approximately 2,500 families with children that are at risk of homelessness who could potentially need housing assistance during any point in a given year. During the night of the 2024 PIT Count, The Samaritan Inn saw a utilization rate of 100.68%.

The 2024 PIT Count counted seven homeless veterans in Plano, two of which were sheltered and five were unsheltered. Veterans represented less than 4% of the homeless count in Plano. As mentioned previously, there was a decrease in veteran homeless in our region. The United States Interagency Council on Homelessness, Department of Housing and Urban Development, and Department of Veteran Affairs recognized the region's efforts and confirmed our region has effectively ended homelessness amount Veterans. Efforts continue to address any veteran homeless by connecting homeless veterans with housing and wrap-around supportive services.

Describe the Nature and Extent of Homelessness by Racial and Ethnic Group.

In 2024, of the 183 persons counted:

- 40.41% identified as Black/African American
- 38.36% identified as White
- 10.96% identified as Asian/Asian American
- 10.27% identified as Multiple Races

Of which, 88.52% identified as Non-Hispanic and 11.48% identified as Hispanic.

There is a need for shelter options in the community for the general population, particularly for the single-adult men. Just over 50% of those counted in the 2024 PIT Census in Plano identified as males. As mentioned previously, the Black/African American population has a disproportionate greater need in for shelter and housing services.

Describe the Nature and Extent of Unsheltered and Sheltered Homelessness.

In the 2024 PIT Census, approximately 75% sheltered homeless and 25% were unsheltered homeless were counted in Plano. As noted previously, there is not a general emergency shelter located in the City. The emergency shelters are limited to cold weather events and specific subpopulations (youth and persons fleeing domestic violence).

Though transitional living shelters offer beneficial programs, they tend to be high barrier and have working requirements for adults. Therefore, adults that are unable to work, as well as people with substance abuse issues and/or unmanaged chronic illness or mental health diagnoses are unable to be served through the shelters in our area. Single males are disproportionately affected by homelessness as there are no shelters in the area for them, except for the one transitional living shelter in McKinney with the working requirement. Over 50% of those counted during the 2024 PIT count identified as male. Therefore, most of the homeless persons in Plano in need of housing assistance are adult men.

The sheltered homeless in Plano tend to be people fleeing domestic violence, unaccompanied youth, families with children, pregnant women, and single women with jobs. As previously mentioned, one of the top reasons for homelessness is lack of affordable housing. For the sheltered population, it is difficult to transition out as housing affordability continues to be challenging.

Discussion:

While the 2024 PIT count showed a decrease in the number of homeless persons in Plano and the region, the lack of affordable housing continues to be a concern. Once a person or family becomes homeless, it is increasingly difficult to obtain housing without assistance. Without housing, it is extremely difficult to maintain one's hygiene, safety, mental wellness, and employment. Programs that offer assistance are in high demand, long waiting lists, high barriers, and/or located too far. Affordable housing (rental units), supportive programs such as rapid rehousing and shelter options for general population are needed to address the needs of the homeless person and families in Plano. These programs should be delivered with flexible, housing-focused, case management and supportive services that address the individual needs of each person.

NA-45 Non-Homeless Special Needs Assessment - 91.205 (b,d)

Introduction:

This section describes the characteristics of the non-homeless special needs' population in Plano, as well as the housing and supportive service needs of each identified population.

Low- and moderate-income Plano households include the following special need populations:

- Persons with a disability
- Elderly/Seniors
- Single-parent households
- Single-person households

Describe the characteristics of special needs populations in your community:

Disabled

As defined by HUD, a disabled person is a person having a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities. According to the 2019-2023 ACS, 8% (23,065) of Plano residents have a disability. This represents a 1% increase from the last ConPlan (2020-2024).

The ACS report indicates the largest number of persons with a disability is found in the age group 65 and over (9,592 persons), which is followed by persons that are 35 to 64 years (7,789 persons), and persons ages 18 to 34 years (3,709). Among the persons with a disability ages 35 to 64 years, the most common disability is ambulatory difficulties (3%) and cognitive difficulty (2.2%). For the persons with a disability ages 18 to 24, the largest percentage of disabilities is 3% with a cognitive difficulty (2019-2023 ACS).

Approximately 56% of persons with a disability in the labor force are employed, 2% are unemployed, and 42% are not able to participate in the labor force. Of those employed, 38% are persons with a cognitive difficulty, 31% have a hearing difficulty, and 20% have an ambulatory difficulty (2019-2023 ACS 1-Year). As previously stated in NA-10 Housing Needs Assessment, the median income for a person with a disability is 37% lower ($45,060) than the median income of person with no disability ($61,634). Plano residents with a disability may have limited resources available, especially the 42% that are not able to partake in the labor force. Living on a fixed income can put these households at risk of homelessness should there be an increase in housing costs. Additionally, housing modifications may not be within their budget and need assistance to install accessibility measures.

Elderly/Seniors

HUD defines elderly as persons 62 years old and older. According to the 2019-2023 ACS, 18% of the general population in Plano meet the HUD definition of elderly. Based on Table 6 in the NA-10 section above, approximately 34% of these households are low to moderate income compared to the general population (28%). Households that have at least one person age 75 years or older have a higher percentage of low and moderate households (49%) compared to households with at least one person age 62-74 (29%). Twenty-three percent (23%) of senior homeowners and 61% of senior renters ages 65 years or older are cost burdened.

According to the housing study findings, Plano can expect a 22% change in population in the age group 65 years and over (See Figure 1 on page 66). Approximately 14% of the general population is 65 years and older and 24% of persons within this age range have a disability (2019-2023 ACS). Of this population with a disability, ambulatory disabilities are the most common (16%), followed by independent living (11%), and hearing difficulty (8%). The ACS report does not provide disability status percentage for HUDs definition of elderly (62 years and older). Additionally, as mentioned in section NA-10, 23% of senior homeowners and 61% of senior renters are cost burdened.

Single Parents

According to the 2019-2023 ACS, 4% of households in Plano are single-parent households. Of which, 80% are single female-headed households and 20% are single male-headed households. The ACS data shows that 24% of female-headed families are below the poverty level in comparison to 7% of families with children under 18 years old. The poverty percentage is the highest in these families where there are children under 5 years and 5 to 17 years old (67%) and in families with 3 or more children (61%).

Single Persons

As stated in NA-10, 25% of occupied housing units are single-person households, 37% of which are renters, and these households have the lowest median income of any household size ($59,812). In addition, approximately 39% of nonfamily households where the householder lives alone are age 65 years and older.

What are the housing and supportive service needs of these populations and how are these needs determined?

Disabled

Plano residents with a disability may have a variety of housing and supportive needs, as each will be based on the persons particular situation and type of disability through individual assessments.

There are a broad range of supportive services that these households and families may need and benefit from such as case management, caretaker support, financial support, treatment, and supportive housing.

Households, families, and persons that are living on a low and moderate fixed income and/or are cost burdened may need affordable housing which can also include home repair or rehabilitation assistance. They may need housing that is adapted to their unique needs and designed in a way to allow for mobility and access, such as widened doors and hallways, access ramps, and additional mobility options.

The community survey had open-ended responses that expressed the need for affordable housing options and mobility services for persons with a disability.

Elderly/Seniors

As previously stated in NA-10 cost burden rates are high for senior households, with 23% of owner-occupied senior households cost burdened, while 61% of renter-occupied senior households are cost burdened. The aging population in Plano need specific housing such as space-appropriate housing typologies (cottage homes, patio homes, condos), amenity-rich environments that are walkable, as well as price diversity for long-term residents where financial resources are becoming limited (retirement).

Senior services that Plano residents may need include access to affordable health care services, housekeeping assistance, and programs to assist with home maintenance and rehabilitation, as well as mobility options.

Seniors were identified as a high priority need population in the service provider focus groups and community survey. Common themes in the open-ended responses from the online survey included the desire of seniors to remain in Plano, financial need for home repairs and modifications, affordable housing and expanded senior services.

Single Parents and Single-Person Households

Single parents and single-person households need affordable housing and housing support (rental assistance and down payment assistance) as these households are likely to be cost burdened and at risk of homelessness should an emergency arise. Additionally, access to affordable childcare and after school programs are needed by single parents as these can be costly and place the household in even more of a financial strain. The current options available that are affordable many times have long waitlists.

Single parents and single-person households benefit from job training and educational opportunities to be able to increase their income and career opportunities.

In the open-ended responses of the community survey several comments mentioned the need for affordable housing, affordable childcare/afterschool programs, homeownership opportunities and housing support for single parent households. With the exception of childcare/afterschool programs, single-income households expressed the same needs.

Discuss the size and characteristics of the population with HIV/AIDS and their families within the Eligible Metropolitan Statistical Area:

According to the latest numbers available through the Texas Department of State Health Services, approximately 2,597 people were living with HIV/AIDS in Collin County in 2023. A total of 102 people were newly diagnosed in Collin County, of which 21 were in Plano. The age at diagnosis in Collin County were as follows: 29% age 15-24; 25% age 25-34; 29% age 45-54; 10% age 55-64; 6% age 65 and over.

If the PJ will establish a preference for a HOME TBRA activity for persons with a specific category of disabilities (e.g., persons with HIV/AIDS or chronic mental illness), describe their unmet need for housing and services needed to narrow the gap in benefits and services received by such persons. (See 24 CFR 92.209(c)(2) (ii))

The HOME TBRA activity will support extremely low- and low-income households experiencing homelessness which may include special needs populations. The housing needs and services are described above for each special needs population identified.

Discussion:

Cost burden is a common housing problem for many Plano residents. Seniors, persons with disabilities, single parents, and single-person households want to remain in Plano but need affordable housing. These non-homeless special needs populations are likely to be cost burdened due to certain factors such as having single/limited or fixed economic resources and incurring additional costly expenses (e.g., childcare, health care).

Affordable housing units that meet the needs of seniors and persons with disabilities can include single-story homes for those with mobility difficulties, affordable rental units, housing development communities that include amenities specific to the populations needs, home repair and accessibility modification assistance, and mobility options. Single parents and single-person households need affordable housing units, affordable entry-level housing, and homeownership opportunities.

While the needs of the special populations are unique, supportive services that benefit this population may include case management, senior services, childcare and after school programs, as well as other ancillary services.

NA-50 Non-Housing Community Development Needs – 91.215 (f)

Describe the jurisdiction’s need for Public Facilities

The City of Plano is committed to creating suitable living environments that improve the quality of life of the community, families, and residents. As CDBG funding is limited, many of the public facilities and services that support suitable living environments in Plano are funded through other sources.

In consulting with the public and service provider focus groups, the City plans to address the jurisdiction’s public facilities needs by seeking to improve or increase availability and access to homeless shelter services and public services to low and moderate income residents with an emphasis on the special needs population including children, elderly, persons with a disability, domestic violence survivors, abused and neglected children, youth, and persons with HIV/AIDS. It is the City’s priority to enhance coordination of services to low- and moderate-income residents by bringing together multiple service providers across the spectrum of needs into one space. ConnectPlano will provide an opportunity for different service providers to foster mutually beneficial partnerships as they serve and support the needs of the community.

How were these needs determined?

In preparing the ConPlan, the City of Plano consulted with the public, community stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations through service provider focus groups, public meetings, and an online survey.

During the homeless and social service focus group, service providers expressed affordable housing is high priority. There is a need for additional shelter options for the general population and special need populations such as the elderly and persons with disabilities. Shelter capacity in our region is limited to shelters that serve subpopulations that are youth or persons fleeing domestic violence, transitional shelter for able-bodied adults, and the Plano Overnight Warming Shelter (POWS) limited to extreme cold weather events. Service providers voted highly for homeless supportive services such as a Day Resource Center where unsheltered persons could connect with resources in the community.

The City embarked on a feasibility study to determine if nonprofit organizations and members of the public would benefit in having a public facility to assist Plano residents in need of service access. Both groups discussed the need for social services to be under one roof to limit the amount of time a resident must travel to gain assistance. Focus groups stated the following as services that need to be provided at the facility: healthcare, childcare, food, counseling services, financial assistance, and legal services.

Through the input received on the online survey, the public facility needs that received the highest average on a scale of one to four were Youth Center, e.g., after school and summer programs and Parks/Playgrounds. This need is included under public services as there are several existing facilities for youth. Parks and Playgrounds were rated high on the public facility needs and open-ended responses for this section mentioned the need for more green spaces, expanded trails, additional parks and recreation centers, along with general repairs and expanded service. Plano residents across the city have access to an accredited and award-winning parks and recreation system that includes 85 public parks covering more than 4,300 acres and 88 miles of paved trails. The need for a senior center was ranked as the third highest priority out of public facilities. A high number of open-ended responses in the public facilities category mentioned the need for an additional senior center and/or updates to the current facility. The City's Park & Recreation Master Plan contains a list of planned park and recreation facilities improvements and actions related to future projects. Therefore, based on the overall community needs expressed in the survey issues related to parks and recreation were not identified as a priority need for HUD funding.

Describe the jurisdiction's need for Public Improvements:

In preparing the ConPlan, the City of Plano consulted with the public, community stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations through service provider focus groups, public meetings, and an online survey. At this time public improvements using HUD funds were not identified.

How were these needs determined?

While the need for improvements to streets/alley, street lighting, and sidewalks were cited as priority needs in the community survey, they were not identified as high priority in the public meetings or focus groups. Additionally, the City funds these needs through its Community Investment Program (CIP), as general maintenance of publicly owned streets and other infrastructures is not an eligible CDBG expense.

Describe the jurisdiction's need for Public Services:

Plano's special needs population, as well as low- and moderate-income households have a high need for a variation of public services. Through the ConPlan public participation process with the public, community stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations, the following were identified as public service needs:

- Senior Services
- Homeless and homelessness prevention services
- Youth Services
- Childcare
- Services for people with disabilities
- Services for Abused/neglected children
- Services for victims of domestic violence
- Health care services/clinics
- Mental Health
- Education on a variety of topics (e.g., financial, retirement, ELI, taxes, homeownership/homeowner rights, parenting)

- Community Resource Awareness

How were these needs determined?

In determining the public service needs, the City consulted with the public, community stakeholders, and nonprofit organizations through service provider focus groups, public meetings, and an online survey.

Housing Market Analysis

MA-05 Overview

Housing Market Analysis Overview:

Numerous factors or indicators are used to identify, describe, and analyze the City of Plano's housing market. This section of the ConPlan includes information on the following:

- Household Size and Composition
- Housing Development
- Housing Tenure, Vacancy Rates, Affordability, and Value
- Rental Housing
- Owner Housing
- Physical Conditions of Housing Stock
- Public/Assisted Housing
- Broadband Needs
- Hazard Mitigation

The City of Plano used the HUD 2016-2020 Comprehensive Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data as prepopulated in Tables 27 through 46 and the American Community Survey (ACS) 2019-2023 Five Year Estimates. In May 2023, the City engaged a consultant to assist the City in preparing a Strategic Housing Plan and Policy Recommendations. The Strategic Housing Plan includes the below four stages:

- Review of City data, including stakeholder meetings and focus groups (completed)
- Regional and local Housing Needs Assessment (completed)
- Regional Job Analysis (completed)
- Gap Analysis of Housing Needs and Initiatives/Tools (completed)

The findings of the housing study yielded a needs and gaps analysis which quantifies current and future housing supply and demand which are cited throughout the Needs Assessment section.

The tables in this section have been prepopulated with HUD data sets, based on the 2016-2020 ACS Five Year Estimates, and the 2000 U.S. Census. Alternate data sources available such as the 2019-2023 ACS, 2024 Plano Point-in-Time Census & Collin County Shelter, and Plano Housing Authority data were utilized in updated tables. This information is the most current data available to assess our City's housing market.

MA-10 Number of Housing Units – 91.210(a)&(b)(2)

Introduction

This section describes the number of housing units in Plano by property type, size, and tenure.

According to Table 27 and Table 28, there are 113,245 residential properties within the City of Plano, comprised of 63,170 (59%) owner-occupied units and 44,155 (41%) renter-occupied units. Most of the housing units are single family detached homes (62%). A housing unit consisting of only one-room such as an efficiency or studio, is classified as having no bedroom. Household size and composition affects the demand for each type of housing in a community.

The age of a community’s housing stock has an impact on affordability, housing conditions, and neighborhood stabilization. It also serves as an indicator of a City’s growth trend. Notably, 29% of the City’s housing was built after 2000, and 71% were built prior to 2000. Key home components such as HVAC system, roof, and windows can have a life expectancy anywhere of approximately 15-25 years. Housing stock starts to deteriorate at a quicker rate when home rehabilitation and repairs are not completed. There are approximately 78,826 housing units built prior to 2000 that are likely to need repair or major rehabilitation as they are now 25 years or older. An additional, 14,720 owner-occupied units were built prior to 1980 that are now 45 years or older (2019-2023 ACS). As previously mentioned in the Needs Assessment (NA), low- and moderate-income homeowners may find it difficult to afford housing repairs due to cost burden and limited economic resources.

Affordable housing units are needed for low- and moderate-income residents including rental units, homeowner units, repair of affordable owner-occupied units, and homelessness prevention. There is an increasing housing demand in Plano for the aging population, multigenerational households, and the increasing service-base and entry-level workforce.

Describe the number and targeting (income level/type of family served) of units assisted with federal, state, and local programs.

Low- and moderate-income Plano households are assisted through various federal, state, and local programs. Assisted housing must be rented to households based on income restrictions from the public funding source. This helps preserve workforce housing availability for young families and individuals.

According to the housing consultants' findings, there are 2,109 tax credit related affordable housing units in Plano which have a mix of market (15%) and affordable units (85%). Of the tax credit units, 1,179 are for seniors, and 614 are general population units. Additionally, there are 3,196 Public Facility Corporation (PFC) housing units in Plano which have a mix of market (41%) and affordable units (59%). Many of these PFC units are newly constructed developments and in exchange for maintaining affordable units the developments receive a property tax exemption.

The Plano Housing Authority has 920 Housing Choice Vouchers (HCV), 40 Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing (VASH), 14 Mainstream Vouchers, and 23 Project Based Vouchers in use as of February 2025.

Provide an assessment of units expected to be lost from the affordable housing inventory for any reason, such as expiration of Section 8 contracts.

Plano does not expect to lose units from its affordable housing inventory.

Does the availability of housing units meet the needs of the population?

The City of Plano does not have sufficient affordable housing to meet the needs of future demographics and the low- and moderate-income households. The housing study findings indicate that although household and employment projections show a strong future growth, job growth outpaces household growth. To attract service and entry level workers, housing options are needed near Plano's main employment centers that provide options to entice workers to locate close to their jobs. The lowest earning households exceed the supply of price-appropriate housing throughout Plano. Additionally, the aging population represent a significant demand on housing supply.

The housing consultant also identified the need in Plano for multigenerational housing (rising immigrant populations); senior housing (both active adult and continuing care); and workforce housing (increasing service-based and entry-level jobs).

Describe the need for specific types of housing:

The City of Plano needs affordable housing for low and moderate households (earning 0-80% HAMFI), particularly for families with children, the elderly, and for residents with a disability. As discussed in the Needs Assessment (NA) section, the data indicates these households are more likely to be spending more than 30% of their income on housing costs.

As Plano's demographics change, seniors and families will need specific housing typologies. Plano's aging population need space-appropriate housing typologies (cottage homes, patio homes, condos); amenity-rich environments that are walkable (cross-references emerging worker demands); and price diversity for long-term residents where financial resources are becoming limited (retirement). Multigenerational housing typologies will be needed to meet the housing preference of new families.

Due to the challenging housing market conditions and lack of available homes for purchase to low- and moderate-income households, affordable housing continues to be a need for first-time homebuyers. As mentioned above, with a projected growth in jobs and to attract service-level and entry-level workers to locate to Plano, affordable housing options are needed.

Affordable rental units are also needed for low- and moderate-income households. As discussed in the Needs Assessment (NA), renters are more likely to be cost burdened (74%) in comparison to homeowners (54%). For single female-headed households and single-person households, an unexpected financial emergency could be detrimental and put them at-risk of becoming unsheltered. These Plano residents would benefit from homelessness prevention assistance programs, as well as affordable rental units to maintain housing.

A number of open-ended responses from the online survey voiced the need for affordable housing including rental units, affordable homeownership opportunities, the need for additional housing options, and desire for walkable spaces to easily access neighborhood conveniences.

Discussion

Affordable housing units and typology diversity are needed to meet the increasing demands of Plano's aging population, changing demographics, workforce needs, and low- and moderate-income households. Preserving the city's aging housing stock through housing rehabilitation programs will help maintain affordable housing in Plano.

MA-15 Housing Market Analysis: Cost of Housing - 91.210(a)

Introduction

This section describes the general characteristics of the cost of housing based on HUD-provided 2016-2020 American Community Survey (ACS) and Comprehensive Housing Affordability Strategy (CHAS) data. Due to rapid changes in Plano’s housing market, Table 29 and Table 32 have been supplemented with the most recent ACS and HUD Fair Market Rent and HOME data.

Plano households have experienced an increase in both median home values and median contract rates in a period of five years. The median home value for the most recent year increased by 51% ($440,600) since 2018 ($291,300) and the median contract rent increased by 35% ($1,792).

Data Source Comments:

Is there sufficient housing for households at all income levels?

According to Table 31, there is not sufficient affordable housing for renters and owners that are extremely low and very low income (30%-50% HAMFI). There may be an affordability gap for households that are between 50%-80% HAMFI, as households that earn less than 80%HAMFI may find units affordable to 80% HAMFI unaffordable.

There is a total of 7,610 extremely low-income households, of which 4,840 are renters and 2,770 are homeowners. There are only 905 units available for renters earning 30% HAMFI, meaning that there is insufficient housing for these households. An additional 3,935 units affordable to renters earning 30% HAMFI are needed. No data is available for number of units affordable to owners earning 30% HAMFI. However, 67% of owners in this income category are cost burdened that suggests a gap exists for affordable housing units.

In the very low-income category, there are a total of 7,430 households, of which 4,190 are renters and 3,240 are homeowners. With only 2,315 units affordable to renter households earning 50% HAMFI, there is a need for an additional 1,875 rental units for households in this income category. There are 1,405 affordable units for owner households in this income category, which leaves a gap of 1,835 units needed.

In the moderate-income category, there are a total of 14,920 households, of which 8,375 are renters and 6,545 are homeowners. There are 14,485 affordable units available to renters and 12,684 units available to owners earning 80% HAMFI. There are sufficient affordable units to households in this income category. However, there may be a slight gap for those earning above 50% HAMFI but below 80% HAMFI that Table 30 does not address. What may be affordable to a household earning 80% will not be the same to a household earning 50-60% HAMFI.

Based on the HUD provided tables, at a minimum of approximately 5,810 affordable rental units and 1,835 homeowner units are needed.

How is affordability of housing likely to change considering changes to home values and/or rents?

Affordable housing exists when a household spends no more than 30% percent of a household's income on housing costs such as rent, mortgage, and utilities. High percentages of low- and moderate-income households are cost burdened by spending more than 30% of their income on housing costs indicating the demand exceeds the supply of price-appropriate housing throughout Plano. Approximately, 54% of homeowners and 74% renters that earn up to 80% HAMFI are cost burdened (NA-10). The median home value is the value at which half of the homes are valued at or above and half of the homes are valued below (midway point), which for Plano it is $440,600 (2019-2023 ACS). This represents a 51% increase from 2018 to 2023 in median home values. There was also a 35% increase in rent amounts within the same period.

The housing study findings indicate that if the housing supply and demand continues as is, lower-income renter households are projected to be priced out of the Plano market over the next five years. The market will not address housing price diversity on its own. Plano will need to create policies and programs to address the housing demand that will arise over the next five years.

How do HOME rents / Fair Market Rent compare to Area Median Rent? How might this impact your strategy to produce or preserve affordable housing?

According to Table 32, the Fair Market Rent (FMR) for the Dallas Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA), is $1,500 for a one-bedroom unit, and $1,754 for a two-bedroom unit. In comparison, for HOME-assisted rentals, the maximum rent for a one-bedroom is $1,325 and $1,592 for a two-bedroom unit.

An extremely low-income single person making $23,200 per year, and $1,933 monthly, living in an efficiency would spend at a minimum almost 50% of their gross income in a HOME-assisted rental project or 74% of their income in the fair market. For a family of four making $33,100 per year, and $2,758 monthly, living in a two-bedroom would spend a minimum of 48% of their income in a HOME-assisted rental project, and 68% of their income in the fair market. In both examples, extremely low-income households are at risk of being cost burdened. Renters that live in private market housing without any financial assistance are at a higher risk of being severely cost burdened.

The median gross rent in Plano is $1,792, which is a higher amount than all the "Low" HOME program rents, and not high as the "High" HOME rent amounts for three and four-bedroom units. When compared to the FMR amounts, the median gross rent is only higher than FMR rent for efficiencies, one and two bedrooms, as it is a lower amount than the three- and four-bedroom FMR rent amounts. In the above section, MA 10- Number of Housing Units, Table 28 indicated that 68% of renters live in either a one-bedroom or two-bedroom unit. The majority of Plano renters reside in private market housing and would benefit from homelessness prevention assistance in the form of rental and utility assistance.

Discussion

There is an affordable housing gap in both rental and owner units due to the rising home values and rents in Plano. Cost burden is being experienced by low- and moderate-income households throughout the City and puts extremely low and low income households at risk of becoming homeless or of being unable to continue to afford to live in Plano. The City should focus HUD funding on housing programs such as homelessness prevention, first-time homebuying assistance, and by preserving existing affordable housing through home repair and rehabilitation assistance. To address the housing market across all of Plano, creative strategies and new or updated policies are needed.

MA-20 Housing Market Analysis: Condition of Housing – 91.210(a)

Introduction

This section describes Plano’s housing condition based on the number of selected conditions, year built, and risk for lead-based paint hazards. Selected conditions are: 1) lacks completed plumbing facilities, (2) lacks complete kitchen facilities, (3) more than one person per room, and (4) cost burden greater than 30 percent.

Plano renter-occupied units are more likely to have at least one selected housing condition (37%) in contrast with owner-occupied (18%). While owners that live in homes built prior to 1980 with children present (12,330 units) are more likely to be at risk for lead-based paint hazards.

There are 5,918 vacant units in Plano with homeowner vacancy rate at 0.5 percent and rental vacancy rate at 6.6 percent (2019-2023 ACS).

Describe the jurisdiction's definition of "standard condition" and "substandard condition but suitable for rehabilitation":

For the purposes of this ConPlan, the City defines “standard condition” housing units as those that meet applicable federal standards and local building codes. The City defines a housing unit in “substandard condition but suitable for rehabilitation” as any building that does not meet applicable federal standards and/or local building codes, but does not endanger the life, health, and safety of the public, and can still be repaired for a reasonable amount. “Reasonable amount” is a cost that does not exceed 75% of the estimated post rehabilitation value of the housing unit.

Need for Owner and Rental Rehabilitation

According to Tables 33 through Table 35, owner-occupied (11,485) and renter-occupied (17,295) units that are experiencing one or more selected conditions may need rehabilitation. Additionally, there are a total of 14,679 owner-occupied and 6,415 renter-occupied units that were built prior to 1980 that may need rehabilitation or at the minimum lead-based paint abatement for units in which children are present (18,490 units). Other units that may need rehabilitation are owner and renter units that were built between 1980-1999 as they are over 25 years old, with those built in the 1980's approaching 45 years since they were first built. As housing start to age, housing components may need to be rehabilitated and/or repaired to maintain housing in decent condition.

Estimated Number of Housing Units Occupied by Low or Moderate Income Families with LBP Hazards

Table 35 shows there is a total of 21,094 of owner & renter occupied units that were built prior to 1980 which are at risk of lead-based paint hazards. Of these, the 18,490 units with children present, estimated based on percentage of low and moderate owners (20%) and renters (39%), a minimum of approximately 5,000 units may be occupied by low- and moderate-income households and at risk of lead-based paint hazards (2016-2020 CHAS). However, as many as one-half (9,200) may be low or moderate income, based on income distribution across the city's geography.

Discussion

Plano's renters have a higher percentage of units with at least one selected condition. Cost burden is one of the four possible selected conditions that a household can be experiencing. The City can reduce the number of households with this selected condition through homelessness prevention assistance. Affordable rental housing would be another way to decrease the percentage of renters that are cost burdened. Meanwhile, housing conditions could be improved for low- and moderate-income Plano homeowners that live in housing built prior to 2000, and in units built prior to 1980 (especially in those with children present) through home rehabilitation and lead-based abatement assistance.

Describe mainstream services, such as health, mental health, and employment services to the extent those services are used to complement services targeted to homeless persons

Plano's underserved residents receive healthcare services through several low-cost clinics which including, but not limited to, Health Services of North Texas, Baylor Scott & White Douglass Community Clinic, Julia's Center for Healthcare, EPIC Medical Clinic, Islamic Association of Collin County, Collin County Adult Clinic, Wellness Center for Older Adults, and Primary Care Clinic of North Texas.

Lifepath Systems is the local authority for both mental health and substance abuse services in Plano and throughout Collin County. They provide comprehensive care for youth, families, adults, and persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Additionally, they have a Mobile Crisis Outreach available 24 hours/day to address mental health crises. As well as short-term, overnight care for those experiencing a behavioral crisis.

Workforce Solutions for North Texas provides employment services which includes a place for job seekers to seek employment, attend classes, and receive specialized assistance. Vocational Rehabilitation services are also available to help persons with a disability get ready for, find, or keep a job. Additionally, the City's Day Labor Center offers a safe venue where contractors and day laborers can come together and exchange day labor work for daily pay in a well-organized and supervised environment. Workforce training and education is available from Collin College.

List and describe services and facilities that meet the needs of homeless persons, particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth. If the services and facilities are listed on screen SP-40 Institutional Delivery Structure or screen MA-35 Special Needs Facilities and Services, describe how these facilities and services specifically address the needs of these populations.

There are a variety of services and facilities that meet the needs of homeless people in the City of Plano which include emergency shelters, transitional housing, street outreach, re-housing programs that include case management, and basic need services.

Emergency shelter is available to persons and families fleeing domestic violence and to homeless youth. The Plano Overnight Warming Shelter (POWS) is a collaborative initiative that provides emergency shelter in Plano during inclement weather events. Transitional housing is available to domestic violence survivors, youth, women, families with children, and adults with the ability to work.

The City of Plano Community Services Division staff assists unsheltered persons with locating suitable shelter and supportive services, entry into Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) and placement on the Continuum of Care (CoC) Housing Priority list. The Community Services Division partners with two local nonprofits, Metro Relief and City House, along with the Police Department and Parks and Recreation Department to provide assistance to unhoused residents. The Neighborhood Services Department is located in a unique location in the city's downtown easily accessible to residents. Unhoused residents can stop by the office to obtain a food pack, hygiene kit, and a bus pass, as well as to get connected to much needed resources.

The City of Plano's Rapid Rehousing Program is administered by The Salvation Army in Plano, which provides housing and case management to Plano's homeless population. This program is funded using Homeless Housing and Services Program and Ending Homelessness funds, which are allocated annually to the City by the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. Additionally, through HOME-ARP funds, the City funds a Tenant-Based Rental Assistance Program (TBRA) administered by a partner nonprofit provider. The HOME-ARP TBRA program will continue into the beginning of the ConPlan, until funds are depleted. Plano residents that are experiencing homelessness or at imminent risk of becoming homeless are assisted with housing and case management throughout their participation in the program. Plano anticipates continuing to utilize HOME funds to continue to fund a Tenant-Based Rental Assistance program in the next five years of this ConPlan.

Plano has several local organizations that provide those experiencing homelessness with basic need items. Streetside Showers provides mobile showers and hygiene kits to the unhoused population in Plano on a weekly basis. Food pantry services are available in locations in both the east and west side of US-75. Hope Restored Missions provides case management, resource referral, hygiene kits, clothing, and other items through their convenient location in East Plano.

Plano Housing Authority has 40 Veteran Affairs Supportive Housing Vouchers, that provide rental assistance and case management focusing on chronically homeless veterans with a disability. Veterans may obtain additional resources through the Veterans Center of North Texas, a nonprofit organization that assists veterans. Plano is also home to a VA outpatient clinic, which is located in southeast Plano, near a DART bus stop.

MA-35 Special Needs Facilities and Services – 91.210(d)

Introduction

This section of the plan will describe the facilities and services providing services to special needs populations who require housing and supportive services.

Including the elderly, frail elderly, persons with disabilities (mental, physical, developmental), persons with alcohol or other drug addictions, persons with HIV/AIDS and their families, public housing residents and any other categories the jurisdiction may specify, and describe their supportive housing needs

As the special needs population grows, especially Plano's aging population, the demand for housing and services for this population increases. Supportive housing combines affordable housing with coordinated services to ensure stable housing is maintained by those most in need. As previously discussed in the Needs Assessment (NA-45), price diversity is needed in Plano for long-term residents such as seniors and other special need populations with limited financial resources. Amenity-rich environments that are walkable, provide opportunities for social engagement and are accessible to transportation support special need populations live a high quality and independent life. Supportive services need to be flexible and personalized to address each person's needs but may include care coordination, personal care, meals, financial management, retirement planning, mobility services, and other ancillary services.

Additionally, elderly homeowners with limited or fixed incomes that prefer to continue to live in their homes, may need assistance with home repairs and accessibility modifications. Housing rehabilitation programs for this population will prevent further deterioration of housing, as well as increase the safety of the residents.

Describe programs for ensuring that persons returning from mental and physical health institutions receive appropriate supportive housing

The City of Plano Community Services Division staff works closely with Lifepath (local mental health authority), local hospitals, Housing Forward (CoC), Plano Housing Authority and nonprofit health and service agencies to enhance coordination of services to those returning to the community with housing and supportive services. Once a person's needs are assessed, services may include entry into an emergency shelter, transitional housing, housing voucher or Rapid Rehousing program that includes comprehensive case management. City staff also utilizes the Coordinated Access System (CAS) to provide access to appropriate housing and supportive services.

Specify the activities that the jurisdiction plans to undertake during the next year to address the housing and supportive services needs identified in accordance with 91.215(e) with respect to persons who are not homeless but have other special needs. Link to one-year goals. 91.315(e)

In Grant Year 2025, the City expects to continue to fund its Housing Rehabilitation Program, which provides repairs to low- and moderate-income homeowners. While this program is open to all eligible low- and moderate-income households, it is especially crucial to Plano's elderly and homeowners with a disability. Many desire to age in place and maintain the safety and affordability of their current housing.

The City will also continue to fund its Homelessness Prevention Program, which serves low-income households who are at risk of eviction. Although this program is not limited to any subpopulation, the participants in this program are often single mothers with children, who have unique needs as described in the Needs Assessment (NA-10).

The City anticipates funding a Tenant-Based Rental Assistance program through HOME funds in the next five years of this ConPlan. This program will continue to assist low-income qualifying populations such as households at imminent risk of homelessness or already homeless with housing and supportive services. As stated in the Needs Assessment, the participants in the HOME-ARP TBRA program have been primarily single-parent households with children.

The City expects to fund public service activities that benefit Plano's special needs populations. This section will be updated after the Community Relations Commission recommends funding to organizations as part of the City's 2025 Consolidated Grant Process. Funding recommendations for federal funds will align with goals and priorities established in this ConPlan.

For entitlement/consortia grantees: Specify the activities that the jurisdiction plans to undertake during the next year to address the housing and supportive services needs identified in accordance with 91.215(e) with respect to persons who are not homeless but have other special needs. Link to one-year goals. (91.220(2))

This is addressed in the response above.

MA-40 Barriers to Affordable Housing – 91.210(e)

Negative Effects of Public Policies on Affordable Housing and Residential Investment

The City of Plano is currently in the process of updating the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI). The AI is expected to be finalized by late Spring 2025. This section will be updated with the results of the AI process.

The City of Plano contracted with a consult to assist the City in creating a Strategic Housing Plan, with the goal of identifying needs and gaps in the rental and for-sale housing market, as well as understand future housing demands based on demographic and employment growth. The Strategic Housing Study findings indicate that while household and employment projections point to a strong future growth, job growth will outpace household growth (by 43,665 jobs). Senior households are projected to represent a significant demand on housing for price and typology diversity. Workers over 55 years old are increasing rapidly in Plano and are staying in their homes once retired. This stops replacement workers from housing opportunities and increases housing costs by 'shorting' supply. Additionally, the current property tax rules disincentive to 'right size' housing. Which results in an imbalanced housing demand and supply market. Plano has a housing gap of 2,228 housing units based on estimated demographic changes and the existing housing developments in the pipeline. Consequently, the City will need to address the lack of pricing diversity through regulatory, financial, and/or market strategies, as well as through policies and programs to address the housing demand that will arise over the next five years due to the expected job growth.

MA-45 Non-Housing Community Development Assets – 91.215 (f)

Introduction

The non-housing community development plan section provides a summary of Plano’s priority non-housing community development assets and opportunities. Table 42 has been updated with more recent data (2019-2023 ACS).

According to the housing study findings, all communities in our region are projected to have positive job growth over the next five years (See Figure 2). Plano is projected to gain 46,265 jobs with the largest gains in Professional Services, Finance, and Healthcare.

Based on the Business Activity table above, what are the major employment sectors within your jurisdiction?

As shown on Table 40, the major employment sectors are professional, scientific, management services (22,986 employees); education and health care services (17,106 employees); finance, insurance, and real estate sector (16,455 employees) with a total of 101,090 jobs.

Following closely, with a total of 14,568 employees is the retail trade sector with 22,747 jobs.

Describe the workforce and infrastructure needs of the business community:

Commuting time influences a business community's infrastructure when it comes to retention, productivity, as well as economic strength. While there was brief shift in 2020 to remote work due to the Coronavirus 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic, since then the workforce across the nation has shifted to more hybrid and in-person. According to Table 43, approximately 39% of Plano workers have a commute longer than 30 minutes to work. The 2019-2023 ACS indicates approximately 73% of Plano workers commute to work, while one-third work from home. With the workforce once again commuting, an efficient and accessible transportation infrastructure is important to business vitality.

The City of Plano is a member city of the Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART) system that provides public transportation access to those that work and live in Plano. DART's system includes the DART Light Rail, bus routes, Paratransit services, and GoLink on-demand services. The DART Light Rail has two locations in Plano, with Parker Road station as the last stop north of Dallas. While the fixed-route bus service in Plano is limited, other options help expand the coverage across the city such as DART's paratransit, express bus, and GoLink. The DART Silver Line a 26-mile regional rail service that will traverse seven cities and cross three counties is expected to open in late 2025 to early 2026. The Silver Line will include two additional stops in Plano. This new regional rail service will not only support local economic development, but it will also expand accessibility to major employment and educational opportunities. Plano residents will have two additional DART station stops once the Silver Line opens. Furthermore, DART transit Centers are conveniently located near major employers. Plano's Legacy business corridor and Granite Park, home to many large employers, is served by the new Legacy Transit Center. While the Jack Hatchell Transit Center transit center is located near Nokia, Medical City Plano, and Dallas Morning News. Even as DART coverage has expanded approximately 1% utilize public transportation as a form of travel (2019-2023 ACS).

Housing affordability also affects the business community and intersects with transportation needs. Based on the housing consultant's findings, four of the top six fastest growing occupations in Plano earn less than $80,000 per year (on average). Current for-sale housing price points exceed the average income for the top 10 fastest growing occupations (See Figure 3). Additionally, it is challenging to attract service and entry-level workers to Plano due to the lack of affordable housing. Only 2% of Plano occupations pay over $150,000 per year. Which means workers in middle income ($50,000 - $150,000) occupations in Plano do not pay sufficient wages to purchase a home on a single income in Plano (See Figure 4). Plano cannot rely on other communities to house persons working in Plano due to the housing demand and supply in nearly all communities studied in the housing study are also imbalanced.

Plano workers with children need affordable childcare and afterschool care assistance due factors such as commute time and working hours. The online survey had a significant number of open-ended comments in the Public Services category regarding childcare and transportation. Due to the high costs of childcare, a significant number of responses expressed a need for this type of assistance for families and single-parents. As mentioned above, DART has several public transportation options available in the City, and the data indicates a small percentage (1%) is utilizing transit services. The reasons for low ridership may include hesitancy due to perceived unreliability, unfamiliar routes, safety concerns, and financial constraints.

Describe any major changes that may have an economic impact, such as planned local or regional public or private sector investments or initiatives that have affected or may affect job and business growth opportunities during the planning period. Describe any needs for workforce development, business support or infrastructure these changes may create.

Over the past 25 years, The City of Plano has transformed into an economic hub for Collin County and the Dallas-Fort Worth region. Plano's Economic Development Department initiatives have attracted national interest. Plano's Economic Development usually takes three forms: 1) Business attraction; 2) Business retention and expansion; and 3) Redevelopment. As such, Plano continues to attract major employers across various industries.

According to the housing study findings, the region is projected to have positive job growth over the next five years. Plano is projected to gain 46,265 jobs with the largest gains in Professional Services, Finance, and Healthcare (See Figure 2). This rapid growth in the region requires commensurate increase in housing. Along with housing, jobs outpace working age household growth in Plano by 43,665 jobs (See Figure 5). While the City excels at attracting jobs, it lags in attracting working age households. To be able to meet the future job growth, more housing options are needed near Plano's main employment centers, providing options to entice workers to locate close to their jobs. Housing price diversity is also needed to serve all the large and growing occupations in Plano.

How do the skills and education of the current workforce correspond to employment opportunities in the jurisdiction?

Overall, Plano's workforce has the education and skills needed by City's major employment sectors. Approximately 60% of Plano's workforce has a bachelor's degree or higher (Table 44 and Table 45). However, there are some gaps identified between the supply of workers and jobs in Plano, as well as a gap when it comes to pay.

According to Table 40, under column "Job Less Workers" a positive percentage indicates an undersupply of labor (more jobs than workers). While a negative percentage indicates there is an oversupply of labor

(more workers than jobs) in that sector. With the sectors with a more significant oversupply being the Transportation & Warehousing; Wholesale Trade; and the Arts, Entertainment, and Accommodation sector each with a -2% of oversupply of labor. Manufacturing and other services also represent a smaller percentage of oversupply of labor, with -1% for each sector. When analyzing for undersupply in labor, the sectors most affected are Finance, Insurance, and Real Estate and Information with 3% undersupply each. There is also a need for workers in the Professional, Scientific, Management Services industry with an undersupply of 2% and one of the major employment sectors in Plano.

The housing study also projects Plano to gain 46,265 jobs with the largest gains in Professional Services, Finance, and Healthcare. Notably, computer related occupations are projected to increase by 6,721 jobs; Business Operations Specialists are expected to increase by 3,663 jobs; and Sales Representatives are expected to increase by 2,496 occupations between 2023 and 2027. As previously mentioned, job growth will outpace the working age household growth by 43,665 jobs.

To meet the demands of the projected job growth, job training and education would be of benefit to Plano's workforce. Higher and continuing education creates career pathways for workers that want to increase their income and develop new skills. The sectors with an undersupply of labor and projected growth may need workers with a higher level of education or certifications. The City of Plano has many job training and continuing education opportunities available which is discussed below.

Describe any current workforce training initiatives, including those supported by Workforce Investment Boards, community colleges and other organizations. Describe how these efforts will support the jurisdiction's Consolidated Plan.

Plano's Economic Development Department partners with Colling College to facilitate customized job training opportunities for employers in Plano to fill gaps in their workforce needs via the Workforce Solutions North Texas Skills Development Fund. The Economic Development Department hosts information on the City's website and encourages businesses to take advantage of this program. This program helps businesses upskill current and new employees.

Collin College in partnership with the Economic Development Department launched a website dedicated to Plano businesses to learn more about customized training available. As not all topics would be covered under the Skills Development Fund, in collaborating it ensures that all topics can be addressed based on a company's need for skill development. Additionally, by working closely with Collin College's Technical Center, local businesses can connect with the educational team to ensure the skills of students align with their needs.

The Director of Economic Development is on the Plano ISD Career/Technical Education (CTE) Program to ensure the workforce development of students are aligned with business needs. Through the Plano ISD CTE program, students learn about potential career paths in Manufacturing (Manufacturing Day). As well as supported the CTE program by helping them make connections with local businesses to help

The Workforce Solutions North Texas works closely with the City's Economic Development Department/Collin College to discuss other workforce development programs such as apprenticeships and industry-specific engagement, and the Skills for Small Business grant which supports businesses with less than 100 employees focusing on training employees. Plano's Chapter 380 grants focus on bolster employment and wages through different type of Economic Development Grants. One of which is a job and skills development grant to retain and attract high-wage jobs, train and recruit talent, and

Additional resources and partnerships with Plano's Economic Development Department that focus on small business include:

- Partnership with the University of Texas at Dallas (which partners with SCORE Dallas) to provide workshops, skills training for entrepreneurs (free of charge).
- A Specific International SME (Small/Median Enterprise) program available through Plano's International Business Manager.
- Plano Public Libraries have a vast number of resources for small business that include mentoring and networking.

Collin College in partnership with Plano ISD started the Plano Wildcat Collegiate Academy in Fall 2024. This new Collegiate Academy provides students in Plano with the opportunity to be earn both an Associate degree as well as a high school diploma in four years (no cost for dual credit tuition/textbooks). For those students that wish to continue to pursue a higher-level degree, this can mean lower overall tuition costs and an earlier entry into the workforce.

In the open-ended responses of the online survey, a number of responses were regarding the need for job training and small business grant opportunities. As discussed, there are a vast number of resources in Plano to meet these needs.

Does your jurisdiction participate in a Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS)?

No

If so, what economic development initiatives are you undertaking that may be coordinated with the Consolidated Plan? If not, describe other local/regional plans or initiatives that impact economic growth.

The City of Plano's Comprehensive Plan 2021 guides the future growth, priorities, services, development, and redevelopment of our city. The plan was adopted by City Council on November 8, 2021. The Comprehensive Plan 2021 includes Vision & Guiding Principles, 5 Pillars, 11 Components, and 5 Maps. Each of the five pillars includes policies and action statements, as well as the progress of each. Economic Environment is the pillar under with the economy component and policies related to economic growth fall under. The Diverse and Resilient Economy Policy focuses on Plano's efforts to ensure a diverse and reliant economic base through seven action statements.

Discussion

While employment projections over the next five years for Plano indicate a strong future growth, the working age household growth will fall short of the workforce needs. The City needs housing across diverse prices and near employment centers with incentives to entice workers.

Public transportation in Plano continues to expand, providing improved accessibility to employment centers, shopping, and restaurants. The DART Silver Line expected to open late 2025 or early 2026 will add two additional stops in Plano. However, public transportation is used by approximately 1% of commuters. This presents an opportunity to raise awareness of the public transit services available in Plano, including services for persons with special needs who are unable to use DARTS's fixed-route buses or trains.

The City of Plano has a vast number of resources and opportunities for small business, employers, and job seekers to meet the job training and education needs of the workforce.

MA-50 Needs and Market Analysis Discussion

Are there areas where households with multiple housing problems are concentrated? (include a definition of "concentration")

As it is common in many cities, the City of Plano, has concentration of housing-related problems in certain areas within its boundaries. Housing-related problems can include affordability, income levels, age of housing and higher concentration of racial/ethnic minorities in certain Census block groups and neighborhoods. Concentration exists when a certain variable such as income level or race/ethnicity exists at a percentage that is higher than that of the citywide percentages.

Low-Moderate Income (LMI) areas are defined as those in which more than 41.2% of households are low to moderate income, using HUD's definition of LMI (Appendix I). These LMI areas are primarily located in east and south Plano, and the area northwest of US-75, with a few LMI areas to the far west and southwest.

Within the LMI area, there is an overlap in concentration of housing cost burden, aging housing stock, and race/ethnicity populations. Hispanic and Black/African Americans reside in Census block groups in which there is a higher concentration of these housing-related problems. Housing cost burden is primarily concentrated to the east side of Plano, the area northwest of US-75, and along the southwest border along the President George Bush Turnpike. As previously discussed in the Needs Assessment (NA), these are primary areas where Hispanics and Black/African Americans reside. Housing units found in some of census tracts are more likely to have been built pre-1980 and may be contain lead-based paint. While aging housing stock can be found throughout the City, for households in LMI areas already experiencing cost burden may not have the needed resources for major housing repairs.

Renter-occupied housing overlaps with LMI areas where Hispanic and Black/African Americans reside, and where housing cost burden is more concentrated. Overall, owner-occupied housing units tend to be concentrated to the west of US-75, central Plano and to the north center and do not overlap with other concentrations. There is an overlap of owner-occupied housing in the north with concentration of Asian households that are cost burdened, not within the LMI area.

Are there any areas in the jurisdiction where racial or ethnic minorities or low-income families are concentrated? (include a definition of "concentration")

Low-income households are primarily located in east and south Plano, and the area northwest of US-75, as mentioned above. Additionally, this area overlaps with racial and ethnic populations. Hispanics reside in significant percentages to the east of Plano and African Americans reside in northwest Plano and also to the east and southwest corner of US-75 and President George Bush Turnpike.

What are the characteristics of the market in these areas/neighborhoods?

The area is comprised of both renters and owner, with renters residing more to the east of US-75, and owners further east on the border with Murphy. This area is more likely to have LMI households living in aging housing stock, spending more than 30% of their incomes on housing costs, and at-risk of homelessness in the event of an emergency.

Are there any community assets in these areas/neighborhoods?

The community assets in the area and neighborhood east and south include the proximity to downtown Plano, access to public transportation, and the Day Labor Center. Many social service providers are in the area, within walking distance of each other. Public facilities such as libraries, parks, and recreational facilities are accessible in this area of Plano.

Are there other strategic opportunities in any of these areas?

In the east of Plano area, with its convenient location near downtown and in proximity to public transportation presents opportunities to attract working age households to the community. Using the available resources, such as vacant buildings, is an opportunity for mixed-used lifestyle developments with retail, micro-spaces for startups, and housing.

MA-60 Broadband Needs of Housing occupied by Low- and Moderate-Income Households - 91.210(a)(4), 91.310(a)(2)

Describe the need for broadband wiring and connections for households, including low- and moderate-income households and neighborhoods.

As of March 14, 2024, the Federal Communications Commission's new definition of broadband service is a minimum download speed of 100 Mbps and 20 Mbps upload speed. Broadband service is widely available in the City of Plano, apart from Oak Point Park and Nature Preserve which has mobile broadband availability (See Figure 6 and Figure 7). There are three fiber providers, one cable provider, and three satellite providers as available options for broadband services in the city. There are small portions of the city that lack fiber wiring, however there are other broadband options available.

Describe the need for increased competition by having more than one broadband Internet service provider serve the jurisdiction.

There was not a need identified for increased competition as each area in Plano has more than one provider from which to choose from, with most areas having four or more providers. Plano also counts with five libraries located across Plano with computers available (with internet access) and free wireless public internet.

MA-65 Hazard Mitigation - 91.210(a)(5), 91.310(a)(3)

Describe the jurisdiction's increased natural hazard risks associated with climate change.

The City of Plano's Emergency Management Department continuously assesses local jurisdictional resources to ensure future needs are met. Climate change impacts the environment, weather and precipitation patterns, as well as the air we breathe.

According to the City's Hazard Mitigation Action Plan 2023, severe thunderstorms (high-wind, lightning, hail), flooding, extreme heat, and droughts may increase in frequency and severity due to climate change. Climate change will affect the largest number of properties in Collin County over the next 30 years due to exposure to tropical cyclone wind gusts. Currently, there are few properties exposed to this natural hazard. However, Plano can anticipate an increase in number of properties exposed to tropical storm strength winds or higher (See Figure 8). In addition, climate models predict that temperatures in our region will continue to rise and heat waves will become more frequent and intense (See Figure 9).

While other natural hazards such as expansive soils, tornadoes, infectious disease patterns, and extreme cold weather events have a more complex relationship with climate change and could potentially see an increase in risk, depending on multiple factors. It is worth noting that the impacts of extreme cold weather events in the city can still be significant regardless of their causes.

Describe the vulnerability to these risks of housing occupied by low- and moderate-income households based on an analysis of data, findings, and methods.

Low-and-moderate-income households are highly vulnerable as natural hazards can result in economic burden and potential health risks. The City of Plano's Hazard Mitigation Action Plan 2023 describes potential vulnerabilities and impacts of the natural hazards that are being affected by climate changes. For example, severe thunderstorms and floods can cause property damage with older buildings more susceptible to damage. Extreme cold weather events can cause property damage such as frozen pipes. While owners may file insurance claims, these claims can be costly for insurance companies, which can in turn lead to higher premiums for policyholders. Primary flooding locations are found in the East Fork Trinity River Basin on the east side of Plano (See Figure 10). As mentioned previously, low-to-moderate income households are located mainly to the east of US-75 (Appendix I). Furthermore, with older housing stock being more vulnerable to property damage it is critical that these low-to-moderate households are assisted with housing rehabilitation and maintenance to lessen potential damage costs.

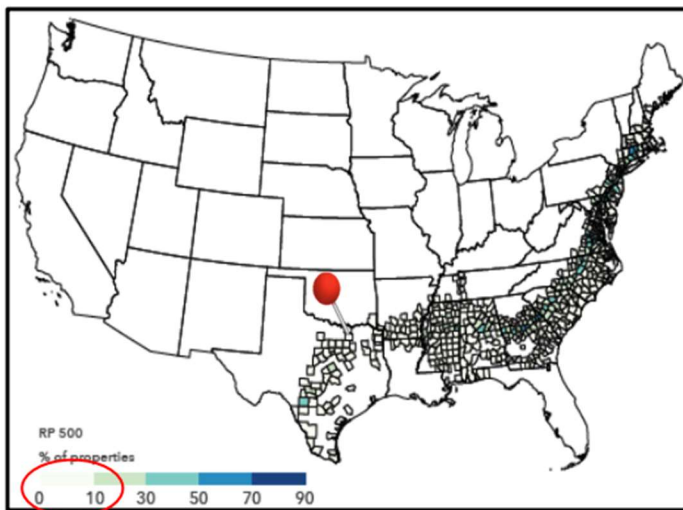

As discussed in the Needs Assessment, low-and moderate-income households are cost burdened. Extreme heat and droughts impact agriculture in Texas, which can then affect the agricultural production and food prices. Additionally, during such events there is an increased demand for energy (air cooling/ heat) and water. Higher demand and usage during these events result in higher utility costs, along with possible higher food prices. Costly property damage, utility costs, and increased food prices places an additional financial strain on low-and-moderate households that could potentially lead to homelessness.

Extreme heat events can pose significant health risks for vulnerable populations such as the elderly, children, and persons with pre-existing medical conditions. Extreme heat events can cause heat-related illnesses which put a strain on the city’s electrical grid due to increased demand for cooling. During extreme cold weather events, there is also an increase in demand for energy. In both extreme weather situations, this demand may cause power shortages, which in could affect the health of these vulnerable populations.

It is critical low-to-moderate households, particularly those living in older housing are assisted with housing repair and rehabilitation programs for safety and to reduce potential property damage in the future. Due to the cost-burden being experienced by these households, they could also benefit from homelessness prevention assistance.

Figure 4-7 Areas with an Increase in Climate Change Damage (Plano is identified with the red pin)

Climate change will affect the largest amount of properties over the next 30 years. Particularly “a band stretching from the Northeast through Texas where there are few properties exposed to tropical cyclone strength wind gusts today, but, in 30 years, many more properties in this band will be exposed and will be at risk.”

For example, in the 500-year return period, in Figure 4-7, Collin County which the City of Plano resides in, can anticipate increases in the number of properties exposed to tropical storm strength winds or higher.

Strategic Plan

SP-05 Overview

Strategic Plan Overview

The City of Plano is required to submit a Consolidated Plan (ConPlan) to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) every five years in order to continue to receive federal funds. The ConPlan must address the following objectives, primarily benefitting low- and moderate-income residents:

- Decent Housing;
- A Suitable Living Environment; and
- Expanded Economic Opportunities

According to HUD, “the Consolidated Plan is designed to help states and local jurisdictions to assess their affordable housing and community development needs and market conditions, and to make data-driven, place-based investment decisions. The consolidated planning process serves as the framework for community-wide dialogue to identify housing and community development priorities that align and focus funding from the CPD formula block grant programs.”

The Strategic Plan section of the ConPlan establishes general guidelines based on the priority needs identified in the Needs Assessment and the Market Assessment, for housing and community development activities the City could undertake in the next five years (October 1, 2025 through September 30, 2030). The strategies and goals set forth in the Strategic Plan are tailored to address the housing, community development, and public service needs of the City, while satisfying HUD’s required national objectives. They provide the framework for implementing the City’s 2025-2029 Consolidated Plan and subsequent Annual Action Plans, by detailing the projects and activities to be undertaken.

SP-10 Geographic Priorities – 91.215 (a)(1)

General Allocation Priorities

Describe the basis for allocating investments geographically within the jurisdiction (or within the EMSA for HOPWA)

The City of Plano does not propose allocating investments geographically as low- and moderate-income residents and families can reside throughout different areas of the city. As most eligible activities funded by CDBG and HOME programs principally focus on benefitting low- and moderate-income populations, most of the funds are likely to be expended in areas that have higher concentrations of low- and moderate-income residents. The majority of Plano's HUD funds are used for direct benefit purposes available to low- and moderate-income residents that live anywhere in the City of Plano. While some project types, based on the nature and effective location, may be given priority such as near schools, transit, and bus stops.

Attached as Appendix I is a map showing the income distribution of areas that have at least 41.2% low- and moderate-income households, per HUD's exception rule for the City of Plano.

SP-25 Priority Needs - 91.215(a)(2)

Table 47 – Priority Needs Summary

1	Priority Need Name	Affordable Housing
	Priority Level	High
	Population	Extremely Low Low Moderate Large Families Families with Children Elderly
	Geographic Areas Affected	City-wide
	Associated Goals	Housing Rehabilitation Supply of Units Homeownership Tenant-Based Rental Assistance Grant Administration
	Description	Affordable housing needs in Plano include: preserving existing affordable housing stock through housing rehabilitation and repair for existing units; increasing the supply of affordable homeowner units; first-time homebuyer assistance (downpayment assistance); tenant-based rental assistance.
	Basis for Relative Priority	The City of Plano continues to place a high priority on the preservation, development of affordable housing in the community, and by providing homeownership opportunities for first-time homebuyers. This need was identified during the development of the housing market analysis, identified as a high priority in the resident survey and in discussion with community stakeholder focus groups. Aging housing stock, rising housing costs and cost burden rates among low- and moderate-income residents are contributing factors to this need.
2	Priority Need Name	Homelessness
	Priority Level	High

	Geographic Areas Affected	City-wide
	Associated Goals	Homelessness Prevention Homeless Shelter and Services Public Services - Special Needs Grant Administration
	Description	Homelessness needs include new and expanded access to shelter and supportive services and homelessness prevention assistance and targeted services.
	Basis for Relative Priority	The City of Plano identified a high priority of need for homelessness prevention assistance, and new and expanded shelter and services due to the high-cost burden being experienced by low and moderate income households. Extremely low and very low income households are vulnerable to being severely cost burdened and at risk of homelessness. Expanded homeless shelter and services is needed in Plano, especially for single adult males as they represent over 50% of the homeless population (2024 PIT Census) and single-person households are more likely to be cost burdened.

SP-30 Influence of Market Conditions – 91.215 (b)

Influence of Market Conditions

Affordable Housing Type	Market Characteristics that will influence the use of funds available for housing type
Tenant Based Rental Assistance (TBRA)	The City of Plano does not have sufficient affordable housing to meet the needs of low and moderate income households (MA-10 & MA-15) due to cost burden (NA-10). Renter units (74%) are more likely to be cost-burdened in comparison with homeowner units (54%) as discussed both in the NA-10 & MA-10; with single-parent households being at risk of becoming unsheltered. There is a gap in housing units for extremely low, low, and potentially moderate income households of at least 5,810 affordable rental units (MA-15). TBRA will increase access to affordable housing.
TBRA for Non-Homeless Special Needs	The City of Plano special need populations identified in NA-45 are more likely to be highly cost burdened, have limited or fixed financial resources, and at-risk of losing housing in the event of an unexpected emergency. As the MA-10 indicates, there is a gap in housing units for extremely low and low income households. TBRA program will support extremely low and low income households experiencing homelessness which may include special need populations.
New Unit Production	As discussed in MA-15, Plano's median home value has increased by 51% and rental contract rent by 35% since 2018. High cost burden, the market condition, and lack of affordable housing are factors that influence the need for new unit production. The City supports the production of new units by providing homeownership opportunities through down payment assistance; new housing units to be added through acquisition, new construction, rehabilitation, and reconstruction.

Affordable Housing Type	Market Characteristics that will influence the use of funds available for housing type
Rehabilitation	Plano's housing stock includes over 21,000 housing units that were built prior to 1980 (MA-20). As housing start to age, major repairs or rehabilitation are needed. Rehabilitation assistance is needed by low and moderate households to maintain safe, decent, and affordable housing. To address these challenges, Plano provides support through the following programs that help improve the existing housing stock: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Housing Rehabilitation uses HUD funds to provide rehabilitation and repairs for low and moderate income homeowners. • The Great Update Rebate program uses City funds to encourage rehabilitation and repairs for eligible units 30 years or older. • Plano's Love Where You Live is a City-funded program that promotes and completes general neighborhood projects including minor exterior home repair and landscaping; community-wide cleanups; education workshops on resident needs.
Acquisition, including preservation	Due to the increase in housing costs in Plano since 2018 by 51% (MA-15), the City supports increasing the supply and accessibility of quality affordable housing which can include new homeownership opportunities for the first-time homebuyers, and support for non-profit development partners, including Community Development Organizations, for acquisition, construction and/or rehabilitation of housing units for the benefit of low and moderate income households.

Introduction

The City of Plano is a Metropolitan Entitlement City and receives two grants from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD):

- Community Development Block Grant (CDBG); and,
- Home Investment Partnerships Program (HOME)

Through the use of federal, state, and local funds the City plans to carry out the objectives set forth in this ConPlan. The City works in partnership with public institutions, private, and nonprofit partners to implement activities and projects that require multiple funding sources.

The City of Plano Neighborhood Services Department, Community Services Division works in partnerships with other City departments to develop coordinated plans, and to leverage resources for parks, infrastructure, code enforcement, clearance of substandard structures, economic development, housing development, and other projects in targeted neighborhoods. Coordination with and support from adjacent HUD entitlement grantees is also sought when appropriate.

The City also benefits from additional local, state, and federal funding including but not limited to, the following:

- Buffington Community Services Grant;
- Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs – Homeless Housing and Services Program and Ending Homelessness Fund;
- Continuum of Care Grants;
- Housing Choice Voucher Program;
- Low-income Housing Tax Credits; and
- Leveraging of federal funds

Table 49 - Anticipated Resources

Explain how federal funds will leverage those additional resources (private, state and local funds), including a description of how matching requirements will be satisfied

The City makes great efforts to leverage private investment for affordable housing activities. In the face of extensive needs and limited resources, the City’s funding strategy is to focus its efforts on activities that offer the greatest potential for maximizing benefits from investments. Consequently, the City attempts to allocate public funds in areas that can leverage additional public or private funding, or complement investments already committed. City criteria for its annual Consolidated Grant application process allows agencies to request no more than 25% if their program budget, or $100,000, whichever is less, to ensure funding for programs will be leveraged with other resources. The City also leverages its CDBG public services funds with its BCSG funds, providing $2 per capita annually to fund a variety of public services for Plano residents.

Since September 2018, the City began receiving an annual allocation of Homeless Housing and Services Program (HHSP) funds from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs. These funds are used to administer a Rapid Rehousing Program for Plano’s homeless population, which complements the goals in this ConPlan related to homelessness.

Matching requirements will be satisfied as follows:

Match is considered a permanent contribution to affordable housing. The City will provide match in an amount equal to no less than 25% of the total HOME funds drawn down for project costs. Sources of match funds may include subrecipient completed projects that include use of sweat equity, land donations for HOME-eligible projects, private financing, the value of donated materials, equipment, labor and professional services, and homebuyer counseling.

Unacceptable sources of cash match include: all CDBG funds, other federal grant funds, funds raised through federal HTC, interest rate subsidy attributable to federal tax-exempt financing, owner equity in a project, cash contributions from investors who own, are working on, or are proposing to apply for assistance for a HOME-assisted project; cash contributions from applicants for or recipients of HOME assistance, and expenditures on program administration.

If appropriate, describe publically owned land or property located within the jurisdiction that may be used to address the needs identified in the plan

Not Applicable.

SP-40 Institutional Delivery Structure – 91.215(k)

Explain the institutional structure through which the jurisdiction will carry out its consolidated plan including private industry, non-profit organizations, and public institutions.

Table 50 - Institutional Delivery Structure

Assess of Strengths and Gaps in the Institutional Delivery System

The Plano institutional structure for delivery of community development and affordable housing programs have the following strengths:

- Numerous nonprofit social service agencies that provide a wide variety of essential public services to low income and special needs populations, including programs for youth, seniors, physically disabled, women and victims of domestic violence, and health-related services for all low-income populations

- A local housing authority that provides a wide variety of housing programs to its customers and works collaboratively with the Community Services Division for referrals to the voucher programs and other opportunities available for affordable housing
- Effective policy-making bodies, including the City Council and Council-appointed Boards, Commissions, and Advisory councils, such as the Community Relations Commission.
- A certified City of Plano Community Services Division staff member able to assess and enter individuals into the Coordinated Access System (CAS); CoC funded services in Plano.
- Local social service organizations and coalitions with a focus on meeting the needs of underserved population, such as the Collin County Homelessness coalition and CoC (All Neighbors Coalition), among others.
- Strong collaborative relationship between the City’s Police Department, Parks and Recreation Department, the Plano Municipal Court and Community Services Division to address the needs of homeless individuals

The following gaps in the institutional delivery also exist:

- Limited sources of funding for housing activities for new construction, rehabilitation/preservation of older housing stock due to increased costs;
- Limited availability and supply of land and housing to increase supply of affordable housing at a cost-effective rate;
- Limited number of non-profit housing developers and CHDOS, with limited sources of funding for affordable housing, in particular for extremely low-income populations with special needs; and
- Limited capacity at shelters and transitional housing, especially for single adults and persons with disabilities; and limited programming targeting the homeless population.

Table 51 - Homeless Prevention Services Summary

Describe how the service delivery system including, but not limited to, the services listed above meet the needs of homeless persons (particularly chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth)

Although the services listed on Table 51, do not specifically target the homeless population, they are accessible to the homeless population. Lifepath Systems provides behavioral health services to persons in need in Collin County regardless of insurance or incomes status. Services are accessible to the homeless population through their crisis hotline, convenient location in a DART Go Link service area, and through their 24 hours/day mobile crisis outreach team that will go out to meet with the individual in person.

The services on Table 51 that are specifically targeted to towards homeless persons in Plano include street outreach (City of Plano, Plano Police Department, Metro Relief, and City House) and rental/utility assistance (Rapid Rehousing).

Describe the strengths and gaps of the service delivery system for special needs population and persons experiencing homelessness, including, but not limited to, the services listed above

The City of Plano is fortunate to have a variety of agencies to partner and collaborate with to be able to serve the City’s special needs and homeless population. This network of organizations leverages the services each can provide within it limited resources, assuring that diverse needs are addressed. Coalition meetings such as the Collin County Homeless Coalition (CCHC) and All Neighbors Coalition (Coc) bring together representatives from area cities, service providers, and faith-based groups as a forum for problem solving, information sharing, and referral services.

The gaps in the delivery system stem from high prices in housing, food, and overall increase in prices across which creates a higher demand and limits resources. This results in not enough beds in shelters and transitional housing for Plano residents, long wait lists for housing programs, and rental/utility assistance being expended at quicker rates due to the amount of need and high rent prices.

Another gap is affordable housing overall. The aging population is growing in Plano, and will require long-term, safe, and affordable housing to meet their needs on a fixed income. Likewise, persons with disabilities also are likely to have limited financial resources. Addressing affordable housing is critical for these vulnerable populations.

Provide a summary of the strategy for overcoming gaps in the institutional structure and service delivery system for carrying out a strategy to address priority needs

The City of Plano is committed to strengthening the institutional delivery system to increase efficiency and the effectiveness of services. The City continually monitors, assesses, and seeks ways to further improve its performance. As a result, to better serve Plano residents, a priority over the next five years for the City will be to build a nonprofit hub. ConnectPlano will be a collective community of service providers and partners working together to address the needs of the underserved population. This community initiative will enhance the coordination of services between providers and ultimately improve the access and delivery of services to Plano residents.

SP-55 Barriers to affordable housing – 91.215(h)

Barriers to Affordable Housing

The City of Plano is currently in the process of updating the Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI). The AI is expected to be finalized by late Spring 2025. This section will be updated with the results of the AI process.

The City of Plano contracted with a consult to assist the City in creating a Housing Plan, with the goal of identifying needs and gaps in the rental and for-sale housing market, as well as understand future housing demands based on demographic and employment growth. The Strategic Housing Study findings indicate that while household and employment projections point to a strong future growth, job growth will outpace household growth (by 43,665 jobs). Senior households are projected to represent a significant demand on housing for price and typology diversity. Workers over 55 years old are increasing rapidly in Plano and are staying in their homes once retired. This stops replacement workers from housing opportunities and increases housing costs by ‘shorting’ supply. Additionally, the current property tax rules disincentive to ‘right size’ housing. Which results in an imbalanced housing demand and supply market. Plano has a housing gap of 2,228 housing units based on estimated demographic changes and the existing housing developments in the pipeline. Consequently, the City will need to address the lack of pricing diversity through regulatory, financial, and/or market strategies, as well as through policies and programs to address the housing demand that will arise over the next five years due to the expected job growth.

Strategy to Remove or Ameliorate the Barriers to Affordable Housing

The City of Plano will prioritize access to affordable housing through the goals set in SP-45 Goals Summary.

This section will be updated once the AI is finalized.

SP-60 Homelessness Strategy – 91.215(d)

Reaching out to homeless persons (especially unsheltered persons) and assessing their individual needs

The City of Plano strives to utilize best practices and implement data-driven strategies to address homelessness in its jurisdiction and participates in regional coordination of homeless services through active participation in both the Collin County Homeless Coalition (CCHC) and the TX-600 Dallas City/County & Irving Continuum of Care (CoC). Housing Forward, is the CoC lead agency for the annual Point-in-Time (PIT) Census. The City Community Services Division staff provides documentation of homelessness through data collected during the PIT Census and street outreach, both of which are described further below.

The City utilizes Community Services Division staff to assist unsheltered persons with locating suitable shelter and support services, as well as assess and enter into Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) and into the Coordinated Access System (CAS). The Police Department, Parks and Recreation Department, and Community Services Division visit various locations throughout the city to provide assistance to our unhoused residents. The Community Services Division partners with Metro Relief and City House for street outreach visits as well. Additionally, the Neighborhood Services Building is conveniently located in the city's downtown area. It is a place for those seeking housing to stop by and receive assistance. Community Services Division staff also organize and coordinate the annual PIT count for Plano each year, working closely with the CoC and CCHC. Data collected during the PIT is used to determine priority needs and allocation of resources for the City's homeless population.

The City coordinates efforts for responding to homelessness across multiple City departments. These efforts include working closely with the City's Neighborhood Police Office unit that responds to calls related to homelessness and mental health crises. This group coordinates with the City's Homeless Services Coordinator in the Neighborhood Services Department to provide outreach, housing placement, and case management to Plano's homeless population. In addition, the Community Services Division works in partnership with the Plano Municipal Court through a court referral process for unsheltered individuals that are in need of resources. A Community Services staff member meets with the person referred to complete an assessment and provide resources, as well as informs the court of completion of assessment. The Plano Municipal Court will drop the fees once they are informed of the completed assessment.

Addressing the emergency and transitional housing needs of homeless persons

The City's strategy for addressing the emergency and transitional housing needs of people experiencing homelessness include: 1) providing City and HUD funding to nonprofit organizations who provide shelter and transitional housing and related support services to Plano's homeless population, and 2) continued participation in the CoC and CCHC.

Helping homeless persons (especially chronically homeless individuals and families, families with children, veterans and their families, and unaccompanied youth) make the transition to permanent housing and independent living, including shortening the period of time that individuals and families experience homelessness, facilitating access for homeless individuals and families to affordable housing units, and preventing individuals and families who were recently homeless from becoming homeless again.

The City's strategy for helping homeless households transition to permanent housing include: 1) City of Plano Rapid Rehousing Programs, 2) work closely with Plano Housing Authority regarding available housing programs and vouchers, and 3) coordination with the CoC lead agency and service providers.

Since 2018, the City has been eligible to receive Homeless Housing and Services Program (HHSP) funding from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA). The Rapid Rehousing program is administered by a partner nonprofit service provider and provides up to 12 months of flexible housing assistance and comprehensive case management to Plano's homeless families, youth, and adults. The City will continue this program to help Plano's homeless population make the transition to permanent housing.

In addition to the Rapid Rehousing Program, the City began funding a Tenant-based Rental Assistance (TBRA) program through the HOME Investment Partnerships American Rescue Plan Program (HOME-ARP) funds since June 2023. The HOME-ARP TBRA program is administered by a partner nonprofit provider and will continue into the beginning of ConPlan, until funds are depleted. Plano residents that are experiencing homelessness or at imminent risk of becoming homeless are assisted with housing and case management throughout their participation in the program. Plano anticipates continuing to utilize HOME funds to continue the Tenant-Based Rental Assistance program in the next five years of this ConPlan.

The City maintains active memberships in the Collin County Homeless Coalition (CCHC) and the CoC. The Community Services Division staff can assess and make entry into both the Homeless Management Information System (HMIS) and Coordinated Access System (CAS) to coordinate housing for Plano's homeless population.

Help low-income individuals and families avoid becoming homeless, especially extremely low-income individuals and families who are likely to become homeless after being discharged from a publicly funded institution or system of care, or who are receiving assistance from public and private agencies that address housing, health, social services, employment, education or youth needs

The City's goal and priority is also to provide financial assistance to eligible low income and at-risk families to prevent eviction and remain housed. The assistance is targeted for families and households earning at or below 50% HAMFI. Supportive services are provided in conjunction with City funded homeless and homelessness prevention services. Homelessness prevention and homeless service providers are required to conduct a needs assessment to set up support and address immediate/long-term needs. Connecting households to resources such as mainstream and community employment programs helps them to successfully retain housing and move into self-sufficiency. Follow-up with clients is conducted after program exit to determine housing status and self-sufficiency.

SP-65 Lead based paint Hazards – 91.215(i)

Actions to address LBP hazards and increase access to housing without LBP hazards

Actions taken to reduce lead-based paint will be conducted in accordance with HUD's lead-based paint regulations at 24 CFR § 35. The City's Neighborhood Services Department Community Services Division has two Certified Lead Risk Assessors on its staff, who regularly attend trainings. Lead-based paint hazards are addressed through the City's Housing Rehabilitation Program and HOME-funded developers and subrecipients. As projects are approved, they are evaluated for lead paint, and when necessary, such hazards are mitigated, as required by HUD regulations.

In addition, homes built prior to 1978 to be purchased through the First Time Homebuyer program and fail the required visual paint inspection will be tested for lead paint. If lead paint is present, the owner will be informed of the appropriate requirements to respond to the lead paint, and the purchase will not proceed with federal funds unless and until interim controls are completed.

How are the actions listed above related to the extent of lead poisoning and hazards?

The age of housing stock is a key factor in estimating the number of housing units with lead-based paint (LBP) hazards and their associated risks for low- and moderate-income households. LBP was prohibited in residential properties starting in 1978. According to the 2019-2023, ACS, 19% (21,285) of Plano's housing stock was built before 1980.

Assuming an equal distribution of Plano's low- and moderate-income households, then at least 28% of the 21,285 housing units built before 1980, or 5,960, would be occupied by low- and moderate-income households at possible risk of LBP hazards.

In carrying out all activities under this ConPlan, the City will:

- Ensure that all regulatory requirements regarding lead-based paint are met through any housing rehabilitation and repair activity performed by the City on homes constructed prior to 1978, and
- Seek out and take advantage of opportunities to educate City staff (including obtaining LBP certifications), public, customers, and contractors regarding the hazards of lead-based paint.

How are the actions listed above integrated into housing policies and procedures?

The City has fully integrated the requirements of HUD's Lead Safe Housing Rule under 24 CFR Part 35 into policies and procedures for all of its HUD-funded housing rehabilitation, repair, down payment assistance, construction, and developer programs.

SP-70 Anti-Poverty Strategy – 91.215(j)

Jurisdiction Goals, Programs and Policies for reducing the number of Poverty-Level Families

The City of Plano's anti-poverty strategy will assist in reducing the number of poverty-level families by providing the following programs and services:

- Programs supporting and encouraging community and neighborhood maintenance and improvements.
- Programs that foster economic independence for homeless and at-risk families and individuals by combining housing assistance and supportive services.
- Case management and information and referral services to special needs, low/moderate-income and below poverty-level families through various nonprofit organizations.
- Childcare, health, food assistance, financial assistance and educational assistance to low/moderate-income families, particularly those with special needs. Nonprofit organizations in the community provide these various forms of assistance, many of which are funded by the City.

How are the Jurisdiction poverty reducing goals, programs, and policies coordinated with this affordable housing plan

The City of Plano's anti-poverty strategy with regards to this affordable housing plan will assist with reducing the number of poverty level families by utilizing the following strategies and goals:

- Rehabilitate and repair homes for low- and moderate-income households. These services are provided by the City, private contractors, and other nonprofit housing organizations'.
- Providing grants and loans to nonprofit developers and Community Housing Development organizations for the construction of single-family homes and or rental using.
- Encourage homeownership through homebuyer down payment assistance and education.
- Prevent homelessness through prompt, short-term rental assistance and case management for low-income housing facing imminent homelessness (not to exceed three months).
- Provide housing assistance and supportive services to homeless or at risk of becoming homeless persons and families through tenant-based rental assistance.

In addition to the housing strategies supported by HUD funding, the City plans to continue to utilize annual allocation of Homeless Housing and Services Program (HHSP) funds from the State of Texas to administer a Rapid Rehousing program for Plano's homeless population. This funding may also be used for other eligible homeless activities as identified by the City.

SP-80 Monitoring – 91.230

Describe the standards and procedures that the jurisdiction will use to monitor activities carried out in furtherance of the plan and will use to ensure long-term compliance with requirements of the programs involved, including minority business outreach and the comprehensive planning requirements

City staff attends various HUD-sponsored training sessions and professional development opportunities offered through private organizations. These efforts ensure staff is current with new or revised federal regulations regarding HUD-funded programs.

The City's monitoring process has three components: 1) On-site monitoring of entities implementing HUD-funded programs; 2) Desk reviews of performance and financial reports during contract periods; and 3) Final reviews of files after activity close-out.

In addition, staff requires mandatory training for all CDBG and HOME subrecipients and publishes a "CDBG and HOME Subrecipient Compliance Manual" for those agencies and provides ongoing technical assistance as needed. On-site monitoring of all CDBG and HOME subrecipient is performed annually. All regulatory requirements are reviewed during monitoring using a checklist. Non-compliant organizations are given findings, and additional monitoring visits may be scheduled to verify that corrective actions have been taken.

The City undergoes a Single Audit annually, as required by 2 CFR 200. Depending on funds expended across all federal grants in the City, CDBG and/or HOME may be selected for review by the City's external auditors. The City has a designated staff person to oversee HOME-funded developers and conducts onsite visits throughout the construction phase until the homes are sold to low-income homebuyers. Developers are monitored annually using a City of Plano Monitoring checklist, including a HUD-prescribed HOME checklist to ensure compliance with regulations.

Staff performs outreach to Minority Business Enterprises (MBEs) by searching websites like the Small Business Administration and local chapters of national minority associations. The City networks with the Dallas Chapter of the National Association of Builders and the National Association of the Remodeling Industry. The City provides announcements of available contracting opportunities to the following local entities: National Association of Minority Contractors Dallas-Ft. Worth, Regional Black Contractors Association, and Regional Hispanic Contractors Association. The City utilizes its Day Labor Center to help contractors locate Section 3 residents. Annually, City staff sponsors a free contractor event for training and recruitment purposes. The City has a web page that includes a contractor application and requirements for participation in the City's housing rehabilitation program. The online application is open to all contractors. City staff has utilized the PlanoTX.ionwave.net online contracting system, procured contractors, and awarded bonus points in procurement for Section 3 Businesses. In addition, staff conducted outreach efforts to relevant trades, general contractors, structural engineering, and architectural firms listed on the www.sam.gov website.

Citizen Participation Plan

CITY OF PLANO CITIZEN PARTICIPATION PLAN FOR THE USE OF COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT and HOME INVESTMENT PARTNERSHIPS FUNDS

The City of Plano (City) is committed to providing opportunities for its citizens to participate in an advisory role in the planning, implementation and assessment of its U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and HOME Investment Partnerships (HOME) Programs. In order to encourage and support participation of citizens, the City will provide adequate information, hold public hearings, and give citizens the opportunity to comment on the City's plan for implementation and assessment of federal funds.

This Citizen Participation Plan (CPP) sets forth the City's policies and procedures for citizen participation in the development of the Consolidated Plan, Annual Action Plan, Substantial Amendments, Consolidated Annual Performance and Evaluation Report (CAPER), Assessment of Fair Housing (AFH), and Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI).  - the range of activities that may be undertaken, including the estimated amount that will benefit low/moderate income persons.

The overall goal of these programs is to develop viable urban communities by providing decent housing, a suitable living environment, and expanding economic opportunities principally for low and moderate income persons. Through this document, the City describes its plan to pursue these goals for all the community planning and development programs, as well as for housing programs during a five year period.

- b. The City will conduct at least one public hearing during the development process before the ConPlan is published and at least one public hearing after the ConPlan is published to obtain citizen's views and to respond to proposals and questions. The fiscal year for expenditures of HUD funds begins October 1 and ends September 30 of the following year. This report will be submitted to HUD within ninety days of the close of the program year.
- b. The City will provide an opportunity to comment on the CAPER. Citizens will be given a period of not less than fifteen days prior to the submission of the CAPER to HUD to provide comments. Comments may be submitted by writing or calling the Neighborhood Services Department or as listed in the public notice. A summary of these comments will be attached to the CAPER performance report.
- c. The City will conduct at least one public hearing after the CAPER is published to obtain citizen's views and to respond to questions. The public hearings will be held in conjunction with the Community Relations Commission and/or City Council meetings. The Notices of the Hearing and the Hearing will follow the procedures set forth in Section C.

4. ASSESSMENT OF FAIR HOUSING (AFH)

- a. This document serves as the City's report, goals, and actions the City will take to address significant disparities in housing needs and access to opportunity; creating integrated and balanced living patterns; transforming racially and ethnically concentrated areas of poverty into areas of opportunity; and, fostering and complying with civil rights and fair housing laws. The AFH was established as a legal requirement to further the purposes of the Fair Housing Act in March 2016. However, in May 2018, HUD indefinitely suspended the requirement to complete the AFH and reinstated the requirement to complete an Analysis of Impediments to Fair Housing Choice (AI), as described under section 5 below.
- b. If the AFH requirement is reinstated by HUD, the City will conduct at least one public hearing during the development process before the AFH is published and at least one public hearing after the AFH is published to obtain citizen's views and to respond to proposals and questions. Impediments are identified through an assessment of laws, regulations, practices, and conditions that affect the location, availability, and accessibility of housing and fair housing choice for protected classes. The AI is updated at least once every five years, consistent with the ConPlan cycle.
- b. The City will conduct at least one public hearing during the development process before the AI is published and at least one public hearing after the AI is published to obtain citizen's views and to respond to proposals and questions.  2. To make a change in the method of distribution of funds;

3. To carry out an activity, using funds from any program covered by the ConPlan (including program income), not previously described in the AP;
 4. To make substantial changes in funding to an “activity” under the CDBG and HOME Programs, a substantial change is defined as an increase in funding for a particular activity of 25% or more of the original project budget even if the project is funded from multiple AP years. For example, if a project budget equals $100,000 and the City would like to add $9,000 to the project, no amendment would be necessary, however if the City wanted to increase the budget by $25,000, an amendment would be necessary;
 5. To make a change in AI/AFH goals and activities; or,
 6. To make a reduction in either the minimum number of public hearings or duration of public comment periods required by the CPP.
- b. Whenever a Substantial Amendment is proposed, the amendment shall be available for public comment, following the procedures set forth in Section C, before submission to City Council for approval. A Substantial Amendment will not be implemented until the conclusion of the public comment period. A summary of all comments or views received in writing, or orally, during the comment period, will be included with the final Substantial Amendment.

We plan to continue running with our Interval Run Club Dallas family and training individuals to chase their goals, whatever those may be. There are a lot of interesting options like the Abbott World Marathon Majors. We have registered for a couple of out of state races next year to experience with friends. Beyond that, who knows?

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

Introduction

The City of Plano is in the process of planning how it will spend approximately $10 million in federal funding for housing and community development over the next five years (2025-2029). These funds are intended to serve primarily low to moderate income Plano residents, as well as special populations such as seniors, people with disabilities, people experiencing homelessness, and victims of domestic violence.

We want you to have a voice in how these funds are invested in your community. Your responses are anonymous and will be shared only in summary. This survey is intended for Plano residents, Plano business owners, and non-profit service providers. Estimated completion time is approximately 8 minutes.

117	The City of Plano puts too many resources on seniors and not enough on youth services to support families with young children. While it is great to support seniors, there really needs to be some consideration on the actual financial need and a hard look needs to be made at how the City is going to attract young families or it will have real financial challenges (beyond current ones) in the near future.	10/29/2024 2:42 PM

119	Affordable assisted living/senior communities. The ones where you must buy in are too high for even some of us here in West Plano. Affordable senior homes about 1800-2000 square feet and one-story in West Plano would be very nice because it is our home area. Why can't some like the Haggards who had a lot of land here make some available at very low costs for this kind of project. Some of us want to stay near our familkees here but have two-story homes that are not condusive to senior living anymore. Haggards have enough money - they could do some charitable giving in this area.	10/24/2024 5:50 PM

3	Plano is a great city, I have lived here most of my adult life. Plano needs to keep up with other surrounding cities pay rates or city employees are going to leave to make more money in another city. Focus on improving the East side of Plano and not just the West side of Plano, in terms of retail and hotels.	2/2/2025 4:12 PM
4	Can we use the schools that are being closed as some sort of public buildings? We don't need them replaced with apartments!! What will happen to the parks near the schools to be closed? The park behind Davis Elementary is the only park in the neighborhood. Plano has added enough multi-family buildings in the last 10 years that has increased the population density which is increasing traffic and stressing the infrastructure.	1/31/2025 9:28 PM
5	Please don't build more apartments	1/30/2025 5:53 PM
6	Need more affordable housing within the existing inventory. When houses come up for sale, they need to be attractive to younger growing families. Doing so with attract businesses that cater to that demographic. Currently the demo is skewing too old and needs to get younger to attract these retail shifts.	1/30/2025 2:48 PM

9	There is so little pride evident in Plano now, in the 80's when Harvard was Mayor it was a beautiful, thriving city and a wonderful place to live. Great planning was evident.	1/28/2025 7:25 PM
10	Please share the results of the survey after close of survey.... Thank You for your leadership!	1/28/2025 1:12 PM
11	Again, (and despite the fact that I, personally, hate children) we need to increase the number of families with children in the city. To do this, we need to make it more affordable; between property taxes and inflated housing values, we've priced out families. This will hurt us in the long run.	1/28/2025 12:26 PM
12	Multi family housing, townhomes,Asus and SRO homeless units with on site services. Less preferences /biases for single family housing.	1/26/2025 9:32 PM
13	As a young family, I would want investments to surround education. I also commute to downtown and if I could wave my magic wand I would love a more direct route whether via dart extension, bus with wifi, etc	1/25/2025 5:23 PM
14	Many of these services have already been provided for adequately. Wish the survey would have had a N/A choice. I wasn't sure how to answer the questions for the services to be continued as they are or enhanced. I would have preferred that more specific answer choices would have been provided.	1/25/2025 3:40 PM

	traffic and more consideration for wider roads if we continue to grow our city
16	As mentioned in the previous section, it is imperative that the jobs offered by the city of Plano pay their employees wages that actually afford to live in Plano. As we all know, the costs of everything are increasing at such a rate that in order for the city to truly support its staff and by affect the economy, it must increase starting wages to a minimum of $50k/year gross. Even this amount barely allows approval for homeownership within the city limits, but it's a start.	1/24/2025 3:58 PM
17	I DO NOT want low income or government subsidized housing near me. I pay a lot in rent and don't want illegals and low income near me for safety reasons. Seniors are different as they make much better neighbors. I am also so fed up with the road construction.	1/24/2025 12:36 PM
18	Would love to see more programs for people to start their own small businesses/companies, and also give white collar job training (people CANNOT have a family and own a home working at a call center or as a simple service technician).	1/23/2025 5:19 PM
19	Better public transportation and child care affordability will support the workforce as we continue to need skilled workers and boomers are retiring.	1/23/2025 1:55 PM
20	As stated in my comments we need more ways to bring our communities together; multigenerational, multiracial, multigender, varied economic classes. Gardening does that. We need local, accessible community gardening sites	1/23/2025 10:28 AM
21	Plano is allowing too much high density housing. It is changing the character of Plano to short term transients that have no long term investment in out community.	1/23/2025 9:07 AM
22	Housing with walk ability to food access	1/22/2025 8:37 PM
23	Overall maintenance rejuvenation of city structures/businesses	1/22/2025 8:10 PM
24	Apartments to provide all parking for occupants so there is less parking on residential streets.	1/22/2025 7:16 PM
25	Road construction needs to be much better managed. It is very poorly managed and very difficult to cope with the constant repeated ripping up of the roadways and not efficiently completing in a timely manner.	1/22/2025 5:40 PM
26	WE NEED AFFORDABLE HOUSING	1/22/2025 3:07 PM
27	low income housing needed, apartments in Plano are not affordable	1/20/2025 8:46 PM
28	I am all for funding the police, fire departments, and libraries. We spend far too much on parks and recreation. We should cut back spending in other areas.	1/19/2025 9:55 AM
29	Start building homes instead of apartments. Apartment dwellers are transient, home buyers stay in the community. There will also be less traffic and the schools will once again be of high quality.	1/19/2025 7:33 AM
30	No more high density apartments. Keep skyline low. Think Scottsdale AZ	1/18/2025 1:39 PM
31	Many of the developers of affordable housing are building 1 bedroom units. They may include a few that have 2 bedrooms. That does not work for families. They need 2-3 bedrooms with parking.	1/18/2025 1:25 PM
32	Yes, the senior citizen recreation center on 16th street. We have asked for another pool table. I offered to do a gofundme page and was told no. I go to the McKinney center and also have several of my friends come to McKinney and have purchased the out of area membership. They are expressing not wanting to come to Plano anymore and if that happens, I will only belong to McKinney. There are too many pool table players and one table is not enough.	1/18/2025 12:09 PM
33	Plano does an excellent job with a lot of these items. We just have first hand knowledge about people who desperately need clean, modern, very affordable housing. Free health and mental health clinics are also needed. Also getting the homeless off our streets needs to be a high priority.	1/18/2025 12:09 PM
34	I know I need help with my home. I have written to the state Senator, Angela Paxton for assistance because Plano city denied assisting me based upon the new evidence of plumbing and foundation issues. Plano has wealthy people. I would be working if I was not this sick, I need a new fence, my yard taken care of, 3 Windows are broken including sliding glass door. I only have a slab floor. Bathtub leaks, washer over flows from 5 broken cast iron pipes. Foundation issues. I need new drywall paint and new baseboards. Too bad Habitat for	1/18/2025 12:00 PM

Humanity cannot do all the repairs in this home. It is 50 years old. It's in a reverse mortgage so I have to scrimp and get money together for the high cost of taxes and insurance its very expensive living here!!!

35	Community programs to keep city clean, community gardening	1/18/2025 8:16 AM
36	The roads are a disaster and infuriating to drive everyday. It's so tiring to see endless construction everywhere and potholes being formed a few months after a repair was done. Please spend hard earned taxpayer money wisely by choosing competent contractors who do good quality jobs.	1/17/2025 11:07 PM
37	The City of Plano needs help with parks and rec making sports fields easier to access/reserve and afford. It's bogged down in regulations. We need more kids to have access with affordable sports and physical activity.	1/17/2025 8:47 PM
38	Plano is rapidly being overtaken by concrete and apartments without appropriate improvements to roads, water/sewer, traffic and impact on the environment. We need more support making Plano affordable and beautiful for people living here instead of adding more people who don't adequately support our city through taxes and investment while straining our services and lessening our ability to add green spaces.	1/17/2025 8:05 PM
39	More knowledge about available programs to update your home. And sinking foundations. Flooding etc.	1/17/2025 3:29 PM
40	Walkability	1/17/2025 11:38 AM
41	We are moving in the right direction, especially downtown / east Plano specifically. Keep updating the zoning to reflect growing population. More mixed housing development, less single family zoning, remove any further red tape and allow more construction to take place throughout the city. Improving public transit accessibility will aid in this too.	1/17/2025 9:35 AM
42	The City needs to re-evaluate its ADU policy to expand lower-cost housing. For example owner incentives to build ADUs which are then leased at 10-20% below market	1/17/2025 9:11 AM
43	Overall, the cost of living in Plano is creating problems for families.	1/17/2025 8:56 AM
44	Please don't ignore Central Plano - especially the Parker and Custer and Parked and Independence area.	1/17/2025 8:37 AM
45	Our mayor loves $$$ and the west side. They get top priority. Visit the east side all around Hwy 75, it's 3rd world mess. How about cleaning up that area, trash is everywhere.	1/17/2025 8:21 AM
46	Low income housing should not be a priority for a city like Plano. People buy homes here to be around similar people.	1/17/2025 7:47 AM
47	It may sound heartless but look at Garland, Dallas and Mesquite. When you create opportunities for lowlifes, they'll come. It's like the doggone baseball field in 'field of dreams'. You can't save everyone. But the people that do live here, and like living here, are starting to hate it. Crummy roads, homeless bums, and gobs of "student drivers" causing auto insurance rates to skyrocket. Keep plano elite. Frisco and the colony have passed us by.	1/17/2025 12:03 AM
48	Stop throwing up apartments everywhere	1/16/2025 11:22 PM
49	More funding to Plano pd for training also	1/16/2025 11:00 PM
50	Need public transportation. Metro train or bus service needed. Everyday people are moving here.	1/16/2025 10:34 PM
51	As a resident of central Plano, I feel as if our roads and public spaces are much more neglected than they are in both East and West Plano. Majority of the concrete roads are in horrible condition, there's a high level of homelessness, a notable litter presence, etc... I want our part of town to be just as beautiful as the rest of it.	1/16/2025 10:15 PM
52	The street lights are very dim and I like having bright lights and more cameras for safety	1/16/2025 9:59 PM
53	Road clearing during winter weather to improve community safety and housing protection from sliding cars.	1/16/2025 9:33 PM
54	Your main focus should be ensuring our public schools remain desirable and well attended. Housing prices will fall off a cliff if the schools in Plano can't maintain a high standard and the Texas state legislature is working hard to destroy our good schools.	1/16/2025 9:32 PM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

55	More accessible options for shoppers, restauranters, and living spaces. Please consult disabled folks to show you the exact issues. They aren't always obvious until you are experiencing it yourself. Thank you.	1/16/2025 9:28 PM
56	Please update oak point rec center instead of continuously updating Tom muehlenbeck center	1/16/2025 9:16 PM
57	What has happened to the improvements that were scheduled for Longhorn Park?	1/13/2025 10:00 AM
58	Is City of Plano still going to have money to help seniors that own a home help with trimming trees ? We really need that we put in an application to have our trees trimmed / also a neighbor also needed help but they were told that the city ran out of money to help and that's why we didn't get our application approved either. We are too old to get on a ladder AND we can't afford to get our trees trimmed! On just social security pay! Please don't stop that service in Plano!!	1/12/2025 9:28 PM
59	More police Better neighborhood services checks & followups	1/12/2025 8:38 PM
60	The city is doing a phenomenal job maintaining and improving infrastructure and services!	1/11/2025 10:06 AM
61	The city of Plano needs to do so much more to help out the homeless instead of just sweeping them under a rug so the city can try to look good in the local newspaper.	1/10/2025 9:49 AM
62	Please continue to fund DART rides for the disabled; our PT clinic in Plano receives patients who pay for services using DART. Please continue to fund the public Recreation Centers; they help the community, including myself, stay healthy! Improvements to road drainage, potholes, and alleyways would be much appreciated!!	1/10/2025 8:42 AM
63	Property values going down because of lack of enforcement of city code and too many rental properties and yet as I say that the taxation for those of us that are homeowners keeps going up. Truly makes me wanna leave Plano roads in terrible condition but for Parkwood	1/6/2025 6:20 PM
64	Provide funding to stop erosion and reclaim damaged areas along all of Russell Creek through neighborhoods - specifically between McDermott and Hedgcoxe.	1/6/2025 4:54 PM
65	NO MORE APARTMENTS, fire the planning department, quit taking bribes and kickbacks. Stop with the mixed use plan.	1/5/2025 3:51 PM
66	Please stop apartments, get rid of dart or keep on east side only. Help with repairs. Large Tree removal, hail deductibles etc. Offer scholarships to families with kids for a chance to attend Plano schools and live in Plano while attending. Offer city jobs for second chances(public works jobs) with job training and possible advancement. Partner with Collin College. Offer clean up programs for aging landscaping and paint for businesses and residents.	1/4/2025 8:42 PM
67	More staff who are trained to provide with homelessness resources at public libraries and recreational centers. Neighborhood services should have a bigger presence and work in areas that have high homeless populations.	1/3/2025 7:53 PM
68	Unlike Dallas, keep improving/renovating the infrastructure of our city.	1/2/2025 9:27 PM
69	If homeless people do not have the will and fortitude to make good use of a shelter/ home then perhaps they need something other than drugs and cast out into the streets to. Panhandle. Most people barely have any money and life is very very costly. I have no hope of home ownership. Private property is the staple of our country and society. Homeowners demonstrate more respect and appreciation and protection of their home and community because they have a stake in the community. Oppose to renting and or being beat down by life loosing momentum and yes loosing any stake in stability and enjoy the fruits of ones labor over time. The less stress adults have the positive effect trickles down to the kids. We need happy families to remain prosperous and uphold a standard	1/2/2025 7:18 PM
70	I think there should be a reason for property owners who do not live in their property to not just hold an empty house. As an example, the city of Tonronto started charging a low tax to property owners/landlords that let a residential dwelling sit vacant for longer than six months, preventing them from keeping a unit off the market and just sitting while the value went up. This increased rental units available, generated revenue for the city, and helped address low housing availability	1/2/2025 11:10 AM
71	Separate and saved bypass are critical To preventing congestion from and pollution from automobiles	1/2/2025 6:57 AM
72	Keep Plano beautiful do not try and help people that don't want to help themselves people work	1/2/2025 3:51 AM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

	very hard to live in a nice place like Plano
73	Animal Shelters and low cost/ no cost neutering. All animals going to the shelter should be neutered.	1/1/2025 6:44 PM
74	Plano has great infrastructure. Loving Plano for a decade now. Road work on major roads every year is not a great experience in crazy traffic though.	1/1/2025 9:57 AM
75	Rent cap, extended rail service, after school programs for children with disabilities	12/29/2024 9:14 AM
76	If possible keeping an eye on surrounding apartment complexes that can easily become a backdoor/ bridge to criminal entry/activity.	12/28/2024 9:26 PM
77	Need to plant more trees along roads. Need to hold companies responsible for cleaning and maintaining the grounds, parking lots - removal of trash, planting of trees, etc. The strip shopping areas in Plano (on every corner) are embarrassing. Walmart does nothing to keep their area clean and appealing (and there is a Walmart in every neighborhood). Golf these retailers accountable and make them ADD to the appeal of the city.	12/28/2024 8:41 AM
78	Current quality of public facilities & services is good / high. The greatest needs are quality affordable housing and economic development incentives. Neighboring communities (Frisco, McKinney) have more forwarding-looking economic development programs to attract and support innovation and emerging technology businesses.	12/28/2024 8:03 AM
79	Plano needs affordable housing! So many seniors are staying in their homes because they cannot afford anything new/smaller - they would be paying more than their current homes. This is tying up family homes preventing young families from moving into neighborhoods. New affordable homes for young families would help bring more people to Plano. We do not need more apartments/rentals - we need affordable single family homes!	12/28/2024 3:24 AM
80	Public transit and 3rd spaces would greatly enhance quality of life in Plano	12/28/2024 1:25 AM
81	We really need better public transportation	12/28/2024 12:29 AM
82	AFFORDABLE HOUSING PLEASE. RENTAL PRICE CONTROLS	12/27/2024 11:29 PM
83	We need public transport to support a diverse community. Need affordable housing that is sold to families, not out of state conglomerates who rent the property.	12/27/2024 11:11 PM
84	Focus on attracting young families to Plano with giving attention to public transportation and affordable housing opportunities.	12/27/2024 11:01 PM
85	You can offer grants to put towards down payments for housing to support teachers, single parents, minorities, etc, rather than looking to build lower income housing. Oklahoma City offers these.	12/27/2024 10:41 PM
86	Plano should consider ways to make the city affordable for individuals and families with a variety of incomes and needs. This requires consideration of affordable housing and transportation. Facilities should be thoughtfully ADA compliant to support residents with a variety of needs. In addition, Proactive responses to our residents in crisis or dealing with difficult times would address many of the priorities. Maintaining our current facilities and parks is also important to creating a diverse and sustaining city. Current services are much appreciated!	12/27/2024 10:15 PM
87	Affordable housing Affordable childcare Public transportation	12/27/2024 9:59 PM
88	We need to create housing that is accessible for young families and families with single parents. We need our schools to pay teachers and building administrators appropriately to ensure retention and top quality. It is essential that we make Plano a welcoming and accessible place for young families and families with single parents. Housing is a huge part of this.	12/27/2024 9:56 PM
89	Parks and recreation, housing, schools	12/27/2024 9:29 PM
90	I cannot stress enough the importance of public transportation throughout the city. Let's be the first city in Collin county that makes this a priority. You would see flocks of young families moving here (if we also prioritize affordable housing).	12/27/2024 8:11 PM
91	You can reach out to me for additional input on startup business	12/27/2024 7:01 PM
92	Please use Asphalt on all roads.	12/24/2024 4:40 PM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

93	Plano is aging, but the people who built this city are being forced out by overly high taxes on their property. Many of us are trying to get side hustles on the side to help generate ongoing income... But we need some assistance. I would love to see the city take some of the older less attractive strip shopping centers That are in arrears for taxes, and turn them into micro shopping centers so people who are at crafters or I have expertise in a certain type of service could afford a one year lease for a small sum to give them a chance to build their business and then either move on to other locations or to close and make room for another person to come in. Reserve this for people who have been residence of Plano for at least 10 years and have paid in lots of property tax during that period of time. They're the ones who we owe this to.	12/23/2024 11:47 PM
94	Another water park to alleviate overcrowding at Jack Carter park facility.	12/23/2024 8:12 AM
95	NO MORE APARTMENTS!	12/22/2024 8:00 PM
96	Stop building homes and offices buildings	12/22/2024 7:47 PM
97	No more apartments, they look good for 10-15 years then start to become eyesores and seems they already are on all major intersections	12/21/2024 5:27 PM
98	Seems like there's plenty of commercial space available, yet we keep building new and expanding instead of revitalizing the old spaces.	12/21/2024 5:23 PM
99	There are too many apartment buildings now, especially large complexes owned by large corporations. They are not providing clean, safe housing according to the many complaints on NextDoor. City inspectors should correct this.	12/21/2024 4:50 PM
100	Public services (fire, police, etc) need to be grown to match not only our population's growth and age but also their increasing dependence and decreasing number of relatives near by.	12/20/2024 8:31 PM
101	Historic Plano - Haggard park needs a dog park area.	12/20/2024 3:57 PM
102	Less condos, apartments, more private 4 plexs & duplexs, individuals owned not corporate or investors, these over price ugly tin cans are creating overcrowding & city isnt improving high traff8c congestion. Shouldn't take 20 mins or more to go 5 miles!	12/19/2024 7:54 PM
103	Too many apartments built in the small area Plano encompasses will lead to negative consequences. The first thing that comes to mind is an increase in crimes of every imaginable kind. I have lived it in Dallas. The area we lived in had a high concentration of apartments. Our house was broken into 4 times and I was shot at once in 13 years. That shattered our sense of security. This is why we chose Plano to move to. Now we are facing much of the same living environment here. The traffic has increased so much in the last 2 years it is nerve racking to get around any more. With the constant street repairs and people making up their own driving rules, driving is getting to impossible. Please consider rejecting any more multihousing for the sake of the citizens already here.	12/19/2024 12:01 AM
104	Approve the zoning and building of single family houses. The increase in supply will lower prices	12/17/2024 12:16 PM
105	The sidewalks and streets need repaired in many places. Especially on Spring Creek and some of the side streets.	12/16/2024 6:56 PM
106	East Plano - sidewalks	12/9/2024 9:53 PM
107	Prioritize the Douglas Community. I drove through there and parts of it are starting to look really run down. That's a shame for a historic community. I've also noticed in some relatively lower and lower-middle income neighborhoods that tall trees in people's yards need to be trimmed. I assume that they can't afford to do this, because it's very expensive, and it seems dangerous. Our community centers and Parks are already amazing and I don't see why they need any improvement right now. I hope that the money can go toward people who really need it, like homeless people, lower income people, etc. It's sad that teachers, police officers and fire fighters, as well as minimum wage workers have a hard time surviving in Plano. We need them and we should support them and their ability to live here.	12/9/2024 2:26 PM
108	Home improvement support. Increase street lighting for safety. Loose dogs are 200% on the rise. Animal control and Plano police point fingers. Zero accountability.	12/8/2024 10:16 PM
109	We need to start preserving whatever green spaces we have left and stop developing on them. We also need to put a priority on beautifying old broken down areas of plano and stop building	12/8/2024 2:32 PM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

new areas. If we don't start doing that, then this city will not be desirable to live in, because there's going to be bad parts and good parts and people don't like that

110	There needs to be more housing options available in Plano. We have a backyard cottage ordinance that is so strict, it's difficult to build one. Revising this ordinance to allow more backyard cottages, would help with adding more housing options.	12/7/2024 9:41 PM
111	Programs for adults on the Autism Spectrum needs more funding/ help. Neglected group.	12/7/2024 9:28 PM
112	We have poor and homeless. They need a place to stay, job training, jobs, and affordable housing.	12/6/2024 10:42 PM
113	Priority should focus on ensuring existing residents are not displaced, forced to bear cost, disruption from transplants	12/6/2024 6:56 PM
114	Improve Senior services	12/5/2024 9:48 PM
115	No more multifamily needed, homelessness and panhandling needs to be outlawed in Plano like it was up until recently. City of Dallas needs one mega shelter and not tolerate urban camping and panhandling	12/5/2024 3:47 PM
116	Please stop building multi family units. If the city is going to fill in what little space is left, please turn the land into parks or single family homes. Me and my family would like to live in a calm, well kept, reasonably priced city that isn't overrun with people.	12/5/2024 10:50 AM
117	Affordable housing options needs to be available for those under 80% AMI. Not only for working individuals and families but also for seniors on fixed income. I support funding for homelessness prevention as diversion from homelessness is the most financially responsible use of city funds.	12/5/2024 10:41 AM
118	Reform the backyard cottage ordinance. The rules are not a good fit for most neighborhoods and need greater flexibility to actually be useful (only one backyard cottage has been built in the six years since adoption). Reforms should be undertaken sooner rather than later. Do not wait for the zoning rewrite process currently underway. Consider backyard cottages as a tool to partner with and empower residents to address housing insecurity. See 'The Block Project' in Seattle.	12/5/2024 8:58 AM
119	Less expensive apartment units, too many going taking away green land, congested on syreets with speeders in neighborhood high, more speed bumps	12/4/2024 6:54 PM
120	Plano needs to offer 20 something young families an option to live, grow, thrive We want our schools to be strong with enrollment and be a place for all types of workers	12/4/2024 5:45 PM
121	Transportation and more services in 75093	12/4/2024 4:24 PM
122	The overall cost of housing has become unreasonable. Additionally, individuals currently owning homes will no longer be able to afford them because of the high taxes. This is not going to be sustainable in the long term. People will begin moving out of the community searching for more reasonable housing and lower taxes.	12/4/2024 12:34 PM
123	Fund public schools and libraries	12/4/2024 8:08 AM
124	New trash cans	12/4/2024 6:03 AM
125	Stop taking money from the feds. It always comes with strings. Plano doesn't need this headache.	12/4/2024 5:48 AM
126	N/A.	12/4/2024 2:42 AM
127	Only request is to invest in East Plano, similar to West and offer growth and addition of basic amenities like Trader Joe's and Wholefoods. Plano is a fantastic city to raise a family, although east is wonderful, it is not a popular choice. Please invest and develop the East so it can attract visitors and equal praise as the west side of Plano.	12/3/2024 11:22 PM
128	More varied housing lottery options for people in Plano of mud to low income families. Easily accessible information would be helpful as well.	12/3/2024 10:10 PM
129	Please stop building high density housing with almost zero public transportation options. It turns the streets into permanent traffic jams.	12/3/2024 7:59 PM
130	More affordable transportation alternatives would be great.	12/3/2024 7:06 PM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

131	More Affordable Housing, Less "Luxury" Developments	12/3/2024 6:26 PM
132	Return the money	12/3/2024 6:12 PM
133	Help fund historical landmarks in the city that have had city services cut (mowing the grass specifically!!!). Douglass Cemetery and the cemetery at custer and legacy are examples.	12/3/2024 6:08 PM
134	Start and finish los rios park	12/3/2024 4:07 PM
135	Homeless people on average enjoy being homeless. Cut off all services, and kick their ass out of the county.	12/3/2024 3:24 PM
136	My vote is for City House and CASA or orgs like that. Thank you, Plano! City of Excellence, baby!	12/3/2024 2:23 PM
137	I believe if Plano had better access to mass transit, better mass transit schedules, covered bus stops, and more incentives to use mass transit then more people would use it. Would be ideal to have a Plano mass transit solution other than DART. This could alleviate traffic congestion in the city and be more inclusive for all communities.	12/3/2024 2:21 PM
138	Stop subsidizing apartment development and devote more money to police and fire. Plano is big enough!!!	12/3/2024 1:38 PM
139	Housing development for adult individuals with disabilities. Those with walkers and wheelchairs that need ramps,etc.	12/3/2024 10:49 AM
140	Would be nice if a lot of the remaining farmland that has been sold for development was instead used as a community garden for citizens and school children, could use to learn how to farm/grow food for personal and community use.	12/3/2024 9:50 AM
141	More consideration to types of businesses opening. We dont need more nails salons, massage parlors, or vape shops in East Plano!	12/3/2024 9:33 AM
142	DART GoLink	12/3/2024 4:17 AM
143	My neighborhood near Park and Roundrock is in terrible shape. It used to be really nice. Houses are neglected, yards overgrown, alleys disgusting. I don't know if people can't afford upkeep or are too busy or lazy? We need better neighborhood services.	12/2/2024 10:28 PM
144	I think all listed are equally important but I also think investing more in tree, parks, water wise native landscaping as opposed to grass and annuals are very important as well. We have a lot of wildlife in this city and leaving some natural preserves as well as encouraging pollinators and conserving water used for landscaping is very important long term. Many old trees have been lost to storms and replacing them would be great.	12/2/2024 7:41 PM
145	Regulate rental houses. Rentals contribute to the devaluation of Plano neighborhoods.	12/2/2024 7:03 PM
146	Low and Middle income areas need to be upkept like wealthier areas. We are ONE PLANO - not east vs west. Adding low income or homeless resident housing without job rehab and training only enables those to not get on their own feet and be able to keep those houses maintained.	12/2/2024 4:35 PM
147	I HAVE BEEN DISCRIMINATED AS A DEAF AND HARD OF HEARING PERSON BY CITY OF PLANO AND THE PLANO POLICE AND HAVE BEEN POKED FUN OF TOO AND PUT TO SHAME FOR MY SPECIAL NEEDS. THIS SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED. CITY STAFF IN MAYOR OFFICE HAVE SLAPPED ME IN THE FACE WITH ABUSE.	12/2/2024 3:46 PM
148	Supply side incentives do not meaningfully reduce housing costs. So long as it is profitable to rent out homes, demand will rise to the level of supply. Increased costs to own rentals (eg lack of Homestead exemption) are just passed on to the consumer. Subsidies for renters become baked into rent prices. In order to meaningfully reduce housing costs, Demand for housing must be restricted. This is unavoidable. New home purchases must require habitation 6+ months of the year by the new owners. Existing rental properties should be required to sell off over time.	12/2/2024 3:46 PM
149	Eliminate property taxes. School-choice vouchers.	12/2/2024 3:37 PM
150	Please keep up the great work!	11/30/2024 3:21 PM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

151	Run off the panhandling riff raff; it's an epidemic that must be addressed.	11/30/2024 8:15 AM
152	let us use the land available, let the new housing be developed for semi-retired community, a big community in one place.	11/25/2024 7:37 AM
153	We need more affordable housing that is not apartments, more public school funding and more assistance with old housing stock improvements. Historic preservation. DFW destroys a lot of it's historic properties	11/23/2024 12:37 PM
154	We have too many apartments and Traffic congestion	11/17/2024 11:20 PM
155	Plano is long overdue for a homeless shelter and services. Also many new teachers can't afford to live in Plano.	11/16/2024 3:25 PM
156	Great job on soliciting citizen input	11/16/2024 12:22 PM
157	Funding for older neighborhood maintenance and improvements.	11/15/2024 1:59 PM
158	The sidewalks in west Plano in the Legacy area just end. There is no way to walk from The Shops at Legacy to any grocery store or many other practical places on a continuous sidewalk. While I can navigate that someone with a mobility aid might not be able to.	11/14/2024 8:51 AM
159	The Clearview neighborhood surrounding Clearview Park is 50 years old and showing it's age. Some homes are being purchased by investors who rent the properties as Section 8 Housing. Other Investors put very little investment in the homes to become rentals. The exterior of these homes are very poor in appearance, and are possibly with not within City property standards. My steet, Cambridge Dr. has several ugly rental homes.	11/14/2024 7:52 AM
160	Define for the citizens of Plano what is considered low income? Moderate income?	11/14/2024 7:25 AM
161	Green space for nature preservation, rezoning empty lots, free land/lots to draw people to settle here, small business education, affordable housing/incentives, affordable living, personal budgeting education & support, retirement/job/financial planning for seniors for retirement	11/14/2024 6:56 AM
162	More walkable, conveniences walkable to neighborhoods, safe gathering spots like neighborhood cafes; better criss walks like flashing lights near where school children cross major intersections with no crossing guards; more public safety education fir kids on bikes/scooters/walking. So many don't look all ways, few wear helmets, many are not aware/looking at phones. - middle school, high school	11/14/2024 5:02 AM
163	Poor cellular service for certain providers, specifically Verizon.	11/13/2024 9:49 PM
164	Housing and jobs for the poor. See Bonton Farm model.	11/13/2024 9:04 PM
165	I would note that while Plano has done much to support to major businesses in the city, efforts to support small business, art groups, non-profits, and community based program is almost always left to small dollar grants than over arching, systemic support. More can and should be done to foster housing affordability, small businesses, local community groups, and artistic production and participation.	11/13/2024 9:04 PM
166	I based my answers on just the next projected five years so that did influence some of my answers.	11/13/2024 5:01 PM
167	Given the city layout and recent developments...would love to see some sort of advancement of buses that run the east-west streets going from Parker Rd or downtown Plano DART to NW Plano Park n Ride and/or Legacy West with stops being around the major intersections and major office HQs. I'd love to take more advantage of the development of Legacy West, Boardwalk at Granite Park, Shops at Legacy, and downtown Plano without worrying about driving/parking.	11/13/2024 3:55 PM
168	There is a clear divide emerging between East and West Plano in terms of opportunity, development, etc and it would be good to have a more equitable distribution. East of 75 seems more in need of investment in infrastructure improvements, facilities and more economic regeneration than the West, especially bordering near DNT and Frisco	11/13/2024 3:30 PM
169	The City of Plano has always prioritized economic development and business acquisition, but has this come at a cost when it has seemingly detracted from funding for affordable housing for valuable employees that the city claims it wants to retain? Is the City unintentionally pushing away essential employees by not creating the affordable housing that teachers, local government employees, and other unfortunately lower paid employees need so that they can	11/13/2024 3:29 PM

live where they work? I would love to hear more about this from the mayor and members of city council, I feel that I don't hear much about what is being done to remedy this. Thank you.

170	More events that bring community together. A community day or something for local small businesses to show off to the public. Food, inventions, music, talents, new ideas. Plano Public Showcase. Prizes for those that get top 5 in their category!	11/13/2024 3:18 PM
171	Lighting really needs help in neighborhoods. Also there are many stop signs which are faded and need replacing. The corner of Custer and Legacy needs cosmetic help. Thank you!	11/12/2024 4:59 PM
172	Yes, how many people actually saw this survey? The government works for the citizens so an EXTREME effort should be made to hear what the majority have to say. I'm not sure that's the case on this.	11/12/2024 9:46 AM
173	Is Plano only taking the money because it is being offered or is there a real need? What would Plano do if this money was not available? Would Plano fund $10 million itself?	11/12/2024 8:03 AM
174	Help for woman starting their own business and purchasing their first home. I think multi generational homes is becoming the new normal and assistance for these families all living under one roof should be given extra financial assistance and new programs introduced encouraging this new way of life. Adult children and their parents coming together to build their one home to fit everyone. Making life easier for our economy our earth and our future	11/12/2024 5:41 AM
175	Please fix the road in west plano	11/11/2024 8:27 PM
176	Horseshoe park was originally supposed to be renovated in 2022 and does not currently have a future date scheduled. The cricket field is maintained very well and is not even used by residents of the neighborhood. A completed walking circuit (would love to figure out how to make this rubber instead of concrete) and renovated park playground would make a huge difference to an already well utilized and breaking down park.	11/11/2024 10:32 AM
177	City of Plano is pricing low income households out. Cost of living is skyrocketing with lack of salary advancement. The poor get poorer and the wealthy get richer.	11/5/2024 12:36 PM
178	Don't accept this money, as it ties the city to onerous federal requirements promulgated out of DC that don't fit here. You don't need to be held hostage over 10 million dollars.	11/4/2024 7:38 PM
179	Don't focus on building more apartments!!!! Er need more single family homes, particularly entry level for first time buyers or downsizing types for retirees.	11/3/2024 11:02 PM
180	No more apartment complexes.	11/3/2024 6:30 AM
181	You need to stop spending money like drunken sailors on pet projects that serve only a small number of people. Pay off existing debt before selling bonds and raising taxes.	11/2/2024 4:52 PM
182	As a disabled senior with limited involvement with the outside world on a daily basis, I've tried to answer these as best I can based off my personal situation. Fortunately, Plano already has so many fantastic programs and the city as a whole is already in such good shape, IMO, it's difficult knowing where best these funds could be spent/needed. And unfortunately and sadly, the city cannot regulate the excessive rental increases in my complex. They are literally driving me out of my home as I type this. And this is coming from a person who already receives generous housing assistance. How can this happening? Frightening.	11/2/2024 10:38 AM
183	Preserving green space where possible. Maintain the current composition of our single family housing neighborhoods.	11/1/2024 8:42 PM
184	The need for affordable child care	10/30/2024 6:26 PM
185	Better, affordable senior housing	10/30/2024 2:58 PM
186	More affordable independent senior living options need to be available. Most cannot afford the Highland Springs style. Keep to $2000-$2300 per month, and we don't always need 3 meals a day! We just need affordable, SENIOR housing - cottages, apartments, duplexes. And the streets of this city are a disgrace! It's costing me a fortune in car repair!	10/30/2024 11:50 AM
187	The people who need these services need to know they're available. When I needed services, I never knew where to turn for help, and transportation was an issue to get to them.	10/30/2024 10:46 AM
188	Plano does not need to be involved with HUD.	10/30/2024 9:52 AM
189	Existing housing is appraised too highly simply to generate more property tax revenue.	10/30/2024 9:13 AM

2025-2029 City of Plano Consolidated Plan

Appraisal values need to be lowered slightly to make existing supply more affordable. Corporate ownership of single family housing (rentals/AirBNB) needs to be curtailed so that seniors and young families can compete and purchase the housing they need.

190	need a systematic plan to renovate / improve housing in older neighborhoods. East of 75 mostly. Demo & rebuild on the same lot.	10/30/2024 7:04 AM
191	Please address the amount of homelessness in the City. I have lived here since 1977 and have never seen it to this level. Also, there are many homes and areas which are in need of repair/maintenance, please encourage owners to make those repairs and maintain their landscaping. Too many other cities are opening large family/children attractions, sports or concert venues...why hasn't Plano attracted any of those type of venues which would help increase business and sales tax revenue.	10/29/2024 6:35 PM
192	Plano already provides great opportunities for all of its citizens. I've lived here for almost 23 years and now retired, I have no plans to move. I considered my community to be my home and the areas around me where I visit to maintain my lifestyle. Although I volunteer in the community for Meals on Wheels, etc, there are some of the subjects of the aforementioned survey where I may not be clearly aware of the community needs.	10/29/2024 4:53 PM
193	Many recent sidewalk and brick wall repairs seemed unnecessary. Spend taxpayer money as if it were your own.	10/29/2024 3:55 PM
194	Public transit and biking infrastructure.	10/29/2024 3:42 PM
195	Low, even average income are being priced out of rentals. Rent shouldn't cost more than 50% of monthly income; especially for retired seniors.	10/29/2024 3:31 PM
196	There is a very high need for affordable housing for people with disabilities, especially those with intellectual disabilities	10/29/2024 3:25 PM
197	Good luck with these. All are very important and I think most people are aware budgets are tight.	10/29/2024 3:18 PM
198	Most housing in Plano today is financially unavailable to people of low and middle income. For example, the townhomes in the former Collin Creek Mall development are selling for over $400,000. Who can afford that? People with a minimum wage job cannot.	10/29/2024 3:10 PM
199	Move away from growth as desirable outcome and move towards implementing a transformed entirety of Plano that will naturally attract an enduring, high quality residential and commercial tax base	10/29/2024 3:10 PM
200	Do something with the trailer park eye sore off of 75. Consider further neighborhoods like the one where Rice Field is located. Young people don't want large yards or homes to maintain. Consider some neighborhoods that are earmarked for young families that make under a certain income and provide some sort of incentive to get seniors into the new senior living to free up their large homes.	10/29/2024 2:46 PM
201	There has been far too much emphasis on the Legacy West area to the detriment of older parts of Plano. I suspect all of those businesses got tax breaks to come here. Let's work on creating a brighter future for the older parts of Plano! It's nice to know that the street resurfacing is nearing completion, but work needs to be done to attract new businesses. There's office/research property and retail property that's available. It needs to be cleaned up, perhaps demolished and rebuilt in some cases. Provide some tax incentives and it's possible that Plano can attract more developers like Centurion, who is revitalizing Collin Creek.	10/29/2024 2:19 PM
202	Please rethink Plano. We are a suburb inside of a suburb with no identity. Land is sold to just throw down quick and cheaply made homes/apartments. Plano is boring, expensive, and old. It's become a retirement community. Build entertainment near homes to walk to. Review the construction plans for roads cause it's suspicious to constantly break down - parking lots of private companies seem to have this resolved, same for highways, fix it.	10/29/2024 2:10 PM
203	Government spending increases inflation. Minimize government involvement and injection of inflation causing government spending into the economy.	10/24/2024 7:20 PM
204	Anything that can be done to improve the driving conditions on 75 through Plano. It is dangerous. Speed limits/on-off ramps, etc need to be improved for safer conditions	10/24/2024 6:11 PM
205	One-story housing for Seniors in 75093 zip code and no gas ovens or cooktops as they are a	10/24/2024 5:52 PM health hazard to us.

206	No more apartments. Non attached townhomes and single family homes are needed. All gas meters in residential neighborhood need to be buried! The above ground meters are a hazard and great cost to the city (when their own construction crew break the lines) and the public hit them with their vehicles.	10/24/2024 11:26 AM
207	Strengthen zoning laws to keep out bad actors like Budget Suites of America who self-insure and are a budget haven for drug dealers, prostitution, child sex-trafficking. DA in Dallas has been trying to get rid of them for years - they self-insure. Give the police and fire departments everything they want. :) From Dallas, Love Plano.	10/23/2024 7:07 PM
208	Continue to develop affordable options for downsizing for seniors and affordable workforce housing for mid to low income households	10/23/2024 4:54 PM
209	The City needs to stop ignoring it's homelessness problem. If it really wanted to do something creative, there is a lot of community initiatives that could be undertaken for non-corporate job creation instead of leaving that to corporations who just siphon off profits. How about investing in the youth who call this City home.	10/23/2024 3:25 PM
210	We need to prioritize GOOD PUBLIC transportation and an expansion in Collin County. We also need more supportive services for people who have low-moderate incomes.	10/23/2024 3:12 PM
211	Make sure police are adequately funded	10/22/2024 3:35 PM
212	none	10/22/2024 9:48 AM
213	The older parts of town, in areas that we don't have high dollar homes and incomes we feel a bit neglected. It would be nice to see them fixed up and maybe more enforcement to keep them from becoming more run down	10/20/2024 2:38 PM
214	In no particular order: 1. Stop with the apartments. Too many, too ugly. 2. Help rent/repurpose empty storefronts. 3. Build something that will make people want to come to Plano. If Allen and Frisco can do it, why can't Plano?	10/19/2024 8:47 PM
215	We don't need to be spending any more money. We need to cut taxes. We are already over-spending. I definitely don't want low-income housing in my neighborhood.	10/19/2024 8:21 PM
216	affordable housing for seniors, i.e. 55+ in age.	10/19/2024 7:11 PM
217	Affordable housing is areal problem for seniors citizens. We want to live here as it is a safe place to be but we are being priced out to dangerous areas of the metroplex.	10/19/2024 5:19 PM
218	Must have affordable home ownership/rental property improvement and availability for lower income to attract young families to Plano to keep the public school attendance at a constant level.	10/19/2024 3:33 PM
219	repurpose vacant buildings	10/19/2024 2:22 PM
220	Infrastructure maintenance, jobs for citizens	10/19/2024 1:31 PM
221	Senior citizens need better representation	10/19/2024 12:39 PM
222	For high traffic roads, consider changing two-way streets to one-way streets, this will provide better flow of traffic. Example if Legacy Drive only went West, and Spring Creek Pkwy only went East, during peak hours the traffic flow would be less congested. The one way direction could optionally be adopted during peak hours and revert to two way during non-peak hours. This would, in my opinion, defer the need to continuously widen streets. Same thought for North-/Southbound traffic.	10/19/2024 11:37 AM
223	Add one more junior high and senior highschool to compensate for all new apartments built. More centers for Seniors to include swimming facilities on the West side. There is only one center and it is 9n 15th Street	10/19/2024 11:34 AM
224	go back to keeping Plano a family oriented suburb instead of overburdening our community with apartments and condos, bringing in people who really have no roots here or care to keep it a great community, which families can't afford.	10/19/2024 11:11 AM
225	Lived in Plano for over 40 years, many years were blistering growth and many folks are disappointed in urbanization. Reality is it is inevitable. Concentration on housing stock in	10/19/2024 10:39 AM neighborhoods is imperative to preserve neighborhoods appeal. Promote individual home ownership and minimize corporate homeownership.

226	I live in senior housing. We have about 250 apartments. We are all on Social Security or other low pensions. every year our rent goes up but it goes up many times more than our Social Security goes up. My rent went up $90 this time. how are we supposed to pay rent that far out runs our income increase.	10/19/2024 10:33 AM
227	Invest improvement funds towards the nine ball fields at Heritage Yards. Those fields can be income generators, but the poor conditions have forced many teams to play in Allen and McKinney. The batters boxes actually represent orthopedic hazards, I've seen serious leg/ankle issues as a result. Allen has a four field complex with artificial turf fields. I umpire there on Sundays, they are vast improvements over Plano. So if the city can spend whatever it cost for that skate board park next to Carpenter Rec Canter, surely they can find funds to enhance the income producing potential at Heritage.	10/19/2024 10:33 AM
